HEINZE CO.'S PLANT

May be Moved From This City to Detroit

If Congressman Butler Ames can succeed in interesting sufficient Detroit capital to place the control of the Heinze Electric company in that city he will move the plant to Detroit. The Heinze Electric company is located in Lawrence street in the yard of the United States Cartridge company. John O. Heinze, Jr., is general manager.

It was at a dinner given by the Detroit board of commissioners that Butler Ames made known his intention to move the Lowell industry to that city. The dinner was in honor of Ambassador Thomas J. O'Brien of Japan, and Mr. Ames was one of the speakers.

Mr. Ames was introduced as an ex-congressman, but he came back with a denial, saying that he is still in the service. He said, however, that Massachusetts republicans had been going in the recent campaign, but a few of them are still on top.

"I am a manufacturer," he continued, "and notwithstanding speeches made in congress and stories in the press about the dividends made by New England manufacturers, it is a fact that the actual dividends on the capital invested amount to little more than 6 per cent."

"New England people have heard about what you call the gasoline aristocracy out here and of the millions that have been made in automobiles and auto accessories, and I came out here three days after election to see if I couldn't get on in the killing. I am a manufacturer of automobile accessories and I came here to make arrangements to move my plant bodily into your community."

The Heinze Electric company has been doing business in Lowell for the last six years or more. When running full the company employs about 250 hands, mostly skilled labor. John A. McKenna is secretary. Mr. McKenna was formerly secretary of the Lowell board of trade.

DEATHS

BABCOCK—The many friends of Mr. Samuel Babcock will regret to learn of his death at the home of his brother, Mr. Joseph Babcock on Main street, Tewksbury, Wednesday morning. Mr. Babcock had not been well for many weeks. He had made his will with Miss Hannah Chandler since the sudden death of his wife a few years ago, and which was a great shock to him, until about three weeks ago, when he went to stay at his brother's house. Mr. Babcock will long be remembered as having had such a cheerful, happy temperament and will be much missed among his friends.

question, testified that the machine driven by Mr. McAllister was traveling at a rate of speed between 20 and 25 miles an hour. He was unable to read the number on the rear of the car because of the speed at which it was going.

The defendant, Mr. McAllister, explained to the court that he was driving through Central street at a rate of speed less than eight miles an hour. When he reached a point just beyond Middle street he found that there were two electric cars stopped while on the right hand side of the street were two vehicles and knowing it would be impossible to pass on the right hand side of the street he turned his machine over to the left side. Just before reaching the corner of Merrimack street he noticed the Belle-Isle machine approaching and in order to avoid a collision he placed his foot on the accelerator which caused his machine to jump forward.

The first witness for the defense was the complainant, Victor A. J. Belle-Isle, who testified that last Friday afternoon about 4.45 o'clock he was driving his machine through Merrimack street and was about to turn to the right into Central street when he saw the motor car driven by McAllister coming through Central street at a rate of about 25 miles an hour. In order to prevent a collision, witness said he had to stall his engine and that the defendant without reducing speed shot by and escaped striking his car by a margin of about a foot.

PRESIDENT TAFT

Greatly Pleased With Work Done on Panama Canal

PANAMA, Nov. 17.—President Taft sails for home today, delighted with the progress being made in the construction of the Panama canal and with the cheers of Panamanians ringing in his ears. The president's speech, made last night at the dinner given in his honor by President Arce, in which he ridiculed the report that the United States was contemplating the annexation of Panama, was published this morning and excited the earnest appreciation of the people here, who seized upon every opportunity to show their friendliness toward the American chief executive and the government of which he is the head.

Mr. Taft will embark upon the cruiser "Yankee" at Colon at 6 o'clock tonight for Charleston. He will stop at Guantanamo, Cuba, Saturday afternoon for a brief inspection of the American naval base there. This morning President Taft looked over the Pacific division of the canal and from a tug examined the completed section. This is the president's fifth visit to the isthmus and his popularity among the natives and the canal workers is everywhere manifested. Just to show him special honor the men turned in yesterday and broke all division records for the laying of concrete at Gatun dam. At the Gatun locks 4435 cubic yards of concrete were placed and at the spillway 540 cubic yards were laid down, making a total for the day of 4975. This information was conveyed to the president in a message signed "The men," and which stated that the record work was done in appreciation of Mr. Taft's visit to the zone.

On the way home the president will dictate his general message for the approaching session of congress, having read the reports of all departments during the voyage here.

The president has received no general news from the United States during his stay and is anxious to get home and again get in touch with affairs at Washington.

Her Skull Fractured in a Runaway Accident

Miss Stella Morrill, bookkeeper at the Lowell Coach Co. in Middlesex street and residing in Tewksbury, is lying at St. John's hospital suffering from a bad fracture at the base of the skull and numerous bruises about the head and body.

She was riding in a coupe last night when the accident happened and, fearing that the horse was running away, she jumped from the carriage. She was taken to St. John's hospital in the ambulance and, with the exception of a few moments now and then, she has since been unconscious.

Miss Morrill was on her way from the stable in Middlesex street to Merrimack square when the accident happened. She was riding through Middlesex street when the horse became frightened and started to run at a rapid rate of speed. Miss Morrill, fearing a smashup, opened the door and when the carriage reached Towler's corner she either jumped or fell on the pavement and was rendered unconscious.

The ambulance was summoned and she was removed to St. John's hospital where an examination showed that she was suffering from a fracture at the base of the skull as well as other injuries about the head and body.

Everything possible in the way of medical and surgical aid was done to relieve her, but at the time of going to press the hospital authorities did not entertain much hope for her recovery.

A LADIES' NIGHT

Observed by the Washington Club

Although enjoying an enviable reputation for hospitality the Washington club broke its previous records last night when it held "an evening" in honor of its lady friends. The apartments of the club in Prescott street were most attractively decorated in greenery relieved by streamers of red ribbon and red shaded lights that gave a warm and cheery glow to the interior. The large parlors were utilized as a dance hall and the Middlesex orchestra furnished music throughout the evening.

The numerous side rooms were transformed into dainty parlors for rest and social chat while the large dining room with its brightly laden tables contributed to the well filled jarder of the club's cuisine and amplified for the occasion by the Page company was a delightful attraction in itself. In the early evening a reception was held by President and Mrs. John J. Hogan at which the guests were made acquainted with each other, after which the evening's festivities were delightfully informal. While dancing engaged the attention of the guests the greater part of the evening during an intermission on most acceptable entertainment was given by Spriner and Willis. "Those College Boys" who went direct to the club from the Hathaway theatre with their costumes and make-up on. The affair which was one of the most enjoyable in the history of the club came to an end at midnight and President Hogan and his committee on arrangements were warmly congratulated on their excellent ability to "do things up finely."

There were guests from other cities including Mr. and Mrs. William J. Kelly of Boston, the Misses Julia N. and Helen R. Collins of Lawrence and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Downing of Dorchester.

The committee having charge of the occasion included President John J. Hogan, Dr. William T. Carroll, Daniel F. Carroll, John J. Sullivan, William C. Purcell, Charles L. Marren and Dr. William M. Collins.

SCHOLARS SLAIN

They Were Attacked by Cannibals

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 17.—A mystery of 14 years concerning the fate of the Austrian scientific expedition from the ship Albatross is cleared up by the finding of the remains of the expedition in the Solomon islands.

The discovery was made by Dr. Norcott Deck of the South Sea Evangelical mission. News of the discovery of the remains of the party in the Albatross was received here by the steamship Zealandia, from Australia.

The expedition from the Albatross was headed by Baron Von Norbeck and included Lieut. Budick, Midshipman De Beaufort and nine sailors. Dr. Beck found evidences of a massacre on Tative island, and from the natives learned the details of the slaughter.

The Austrians, according to the natives, were surprised by the blacks. Baron von Norbeck was killed by a savage who crept up behind him. The sailors fought off the blacks after several were wounded, and made camp where the baron lay.

In the night the camp was again attacked and only three of the men escaped. They made their way to the

COUNT TOLSTOI

Slightly Improved but His Condition is Critical

TULSA, Russia, Nov. 17.—Count Leo Tolstoi was still alive and even said to be slightly improved this morning. His condition, however, continues critical and for many hours the symptoms have been such as to give rise to frequent reports that the end had come.

The aged author passed a restless night at the home of the stationmaster at Astapova, to which he was removed when illness seized him during his attempted pilgrimage from Shamardino to the Caucasus, where he had hoped to end his days in solitude.

At 8 o'clock this morning the count was sleeping. His temperature which was 101 last night, had fallen to 100.4. The inflammation of the lungs was less pronounced. On the other hand the pulse was alarmingly high and intermittent. The weakness of the heart action was the cause of greatest anxiety and the physicians were prepared to resort to the use of oxygen. The case was aggravated by the condition of the kidneys which were greatly swollen and inflamed.

Countess Tolstoi has not been admitted to the sick chamber and even the fact of her arrival has been concealed from Tolstoi, lest knowledge of her coming over-excite him. He was not pleased when the presence of his son, Sergius, was made known to him. When Sergius entered the room and was recognized by his father, Tolstoi was plainly angry and showed his annoyance by asking: "Why did you come? How did you know that I was here?"

The younger Tolstoi declared he had learned his father's whereabouts from a railroad conductor but the count was not satisfied with this explanation and left no doubt of his feelings.

At the same time Tolstoi was de-

Feared Consumption

Entirely Cured. Interesting Case.

W. H. Burtch, Bingham, Pa., writes: "I was in a terribly run-down condition, my lungs were weak and sore, and I had a dull, heavy pain between the shoulders. MUNICIPAL LEAGUE

Plans to Stop Graft Were Under Discussion

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 17.—The word "graft" was heard many times at yesterday's session of the 16th annual meeting of the National Municipal League and 18th national convention for good city government. Methods proposed to circumvent the graft and to provide a system of government that will leave him no place in the public service made the sessions the most interesting of this year's series.

Dr. Leonard F. Fuld, examiner for the municipal civil service commission of New York, spoke on "The Police Problem." He said that while the administration of the police department in the average American city was not perfect, it was also true that policemen were the victims of too much criticism. He had found a large portion of police officers concerned in the performance of their duties.

The police officer, he said, is the victim, in many instances, of a political system which lies his hands. Dr. Fuld favored the single-headed department rather than the antiquated board system.

The grafter at work in American cities was the subject of a paper by Harold J. Howland of New York. John Martin of the New York board of education spoke on the "Unearthed Incumbents in Municipalities."

The general subject of "City Finance, Budgets and Statistics" was considered in several papers. Dr. William F. Willoughby of the U. S. census bureau discussed the necessity of consideration of the correlation of the financial and physical statistics of cities.

The work of the Chicago commission on city expenditures was reviewed by Prof. Charles L. Merriam of the university of Chicago. Charles P. Getty, director of the Massachusetts state bureau of statistics, described the increasingly successful work of his department in standardizing municipal accounts and statistics in that state.

"Corrupt Practices in Municipalities" was a topic exhaustively considered. "Take away the probability of concealment and few men have the courage to defraud their fellows, or violate the law," said Dr. William Allen, secretary of the New York bureau of municipal research in outlining methods of "overhauling the grafter by municipal accounting."

Mr. Getty, in his address, said: "A single instance from Massachusetts experience will illustrate the significance and potentiality of what may be called the statistical point of view in treating the subject of municipal finances. This is the disclosure of the misleading character of the debt statements of our municipalities when based, as they are quite likely to be, upon the narrow definition of 'net indebtedness' laid down by Massachusetts law.

"The general statutory authority for the incurring of debts by cities and towns in Massachusetts limits the amount to which a city may become indebted to 2½ per cent. on the average of the assessors' valuations of the taxable property therein for the three preceding years, the valuation of each year being first reduced by the amount of all abatements allowed thereon previous to the last day of December in the year preceding said assessment; and it is provided that a town shall not become indebted in an amount exceeding 3 per cent. of the last preceding valuation for the assessment of the taxable property therein. This is what is commonly called the 'debt limit,' and the theory of the law was, of course, that the cities and towns of the commonwealth required some such salutary check upon their borrowing propensities.

"But the law recognized certain forms of debt, which it specified should be excluded by reckoning the debt limit, such as water debt, debt incurred for municipal lighting purposes to an amount not exceeding in a town 5 per cent. and in a city not exceeding 2½ per cent. of the last preceding valuation, temporary tax loans and temporary loans for grade crossing abolition purposes.

"And from time to time a sympathetic legislature has hearkened to appeals of cities and towns for exemption, for some special reason, from the operation of the general law, and has granted permission to borrow 'outside the debt limit' for purposes which it was the intent of the statute should be provided for within the debt limit.

"Now it is rudimentary to say that the net debt of a municipality is found by deducting from the total funded or fixed debt the amount which has been set aside in sinking funds to pay the debt when due; and it is hardly necessary to indicate that funded or fixed debt does not include tax loans, temporary grade crossing loans or outstanding warrants or orders, since such obligations are presumably offset by assets—that is, tax loans by uncollected taxes, temporary grade crossing loans by revenue due from the commonwealth or corporations, and warrants or orders by cash on hand.

"But the statutory definition of 'net debt' in Massachusetts is not so simple. Within the meaning of our law (the term 'net indebtedness' includes 'the indebtedness of a county, city, town or district, omitting debts created for supplying the inhabitants with water and other debts exempted from the operation of the law limiting the indebtedness and deducting the amount of sinking funds available for the payment of the 'indebtedness included.'"

"It will thus be noted that the statutory net debt in Massachusetts is quite different from the real net debt, since in determining the former the funded or fixed debt from which the sinking funds must be subtracted does not take into account either funded water debt or, under certain circumstances, a portion of municipal lighting debt, nor indeed any other loans that may

"It is, therefore, obvious that a statement of net debt which is confined to a figure which includes only those obligations embraced within the scope of the so-called 'net indebtedness,' as narrowly defined by the statute, excluding as it does such an important single item of funded debt as water debt, can hardly be said to tell the whole story of the debt burden."

SCARLET FEVER

A Number of Cases Reported

For contagious diseases scarlet fever holds the record in Lowell at the present time, 23 cases having been reported at the office of the board of health. In his talk before the men of St. John's parish last night Dr. Martin, chairman of the board of health, said: "Scarlet fever is dangerous. The average patient is sick only three or four days. Then comes the period of peeling, which lasts four or five weeks. Every little seab which comes from the patient carries contagion with it." The health authorities, however, claim that 25 cases is not an unusual number for this time of year.

ATTEMPT TO MURDER BANK OFFICIAL

Charged Against Man Held on Woman's Evidence

YORK HARBOR, Me., Nov. 17.—Geo. E. Goodwin, aged 21, a resident of the Chase pond district, was arraigned yesterday afternoon before Trial Justice William C. Hildreth, charged with attempt to murder Mrs. Laura Briery.

Owing to the condition of his victim, who was unable to be present, Goodwin's case was continued until Nov. 23 without bail.

The story told by Mrs. Briery is that, accompanied by her 3-year-old daughter, she went out to feed the pigs kept in a pen some distance from the house. While she was thus engaged Goodwin, who lives nearby, came up behind her, she says, and asked: "Where are the little devils?" She, supposing he meant the pigs, replied, "In the pen."

Without more ado, Mrs. Briery charges, he picked up a four-foot nail and struck her six or seven blows on her head, making bad gashes. After the woman had fallen unconscious, she says, he left his victim.

The little girl, who had been a witness of the alleged attack, was too terrified to renege, but afterward helped herself in trying to arouse her mother. After some time the woman regained consciousness and, aided by the child, succeeded in reaching her home.

Dr. Smith was called and dressed the wounds, being obliged to take five or six stitches in several of them. While the doctor dressed the wounds her alleged assailant held a lamp so that he could see to do his work.

On the return home of the woman's husband, Deputy Sheriff Bradford Woodward was notified and Goodwin was arrested.

At the hearing County Attorney Asa Richardson of Kennebunkport represented the state. Goodwin pleaded not guilty.

during his sleepless night in the prison. Although a score or more of friends called at the Tombs in the course of the night no one was allowed to see him. Some of them announced that bail would be forthcoming for the prisoner when he was arraigned in court today.

PRESIDENT TAFT

Says That United States Will Not Annex Panama

PANAMA, Nov. 17.—President Taft last night officially disposed of the report that the United States was likely to annex Panama. At a dinner given in his honor by President Arosemena and attended by two hundred prominent officials, diplomats and merchants, President Taft aroused the greatest enthusiasm when he declared that the American people would feel dishonored in annexing Panama, unless some conduct by the Panama people left no other course.

This contingency, Mr. Taft was sure, would never arise.

The president reached Panama at 6:30 o'clock last evening from Culebra, after spending an interesting day in the great cut, where he was often completely surrounded with giant shovels, puffing drills and hurrying dirt trains while occasional distant blasts sent up tons of rocks.

The recent land slides were visible, but they were in no wise disturbing to the president or Lieut.-Col. Goethals. The latter said they will be taken care of as they occur until the degree of wall slope prevents a recurrence.

Yesterday afternoon the president reviewed the marines at Camp Elliott later hearing grievance committees who asked for an increase in pay. This, however, is not likely to be granted, in view of the fact that the wages of the men are already higher, and the cost of living much lower than in the United States. Immediately on his arrival in Panama, the president proceeded to the American legation, where he was called on by President Arosemena.

Mr. Taft returned the call at the palace and then proceeded to the banquet. After an address of cordial welcome by the Panama president, Mr. Taft said:

"President Arosemena and my friends of Panama I am glad to accept your hospitality. As once in the case of Mexico so now in the case of Panama I ventured to violate the customary limitation upon the movements of the president of the United States by leaving the soil of my own country to come beneath the flag and protection of a friendly neighbor.

"The birth of the republic of Panama and the peculiar interest which the United States has had since that birth in Panama's welfare and prosperity

WHY SALVES FAIL TO CURE ECZEMA

Scientists are now agreed that the eczema germs are lodged not in the outer skin or epidermis but in the inner skin. Hence, a penetrating liquid is required, not an outward salve that clogs the pores.

We recommend to all eczema patients the standard prescription Oil of Wintergreen as compounded in liquid form known as D. D. D. Prescription. A trial bottle of this D. D. D. Prescription, at only 25 cents, will instantly relieve the itch. We have sold and recommended this remedy for years, and know of wonderful cures from its use. We recommend it to our patrons.

Talking about work, my special work is supplying the people of Lowell with the choicest products of mine and forest. Buying my coal at the mouth of the mines, from the best collieries in Pennsylvania, that means the best in the world. Buying my wood standing in the trees, hiring my own choppers. I don't want you to class me as a middle man or a retailer. I am simply your agent. I get a little better than a living out of a life's experience and a life's savings. CITY'S HEALTH

Dr. Martin Tells How It Is Promoted

Rev. James Bancroft, rector, presided at the first gathering of the men of St. John's parish in the audience rooms of the church last night. Rev. Mr. Bancroft said he had arranged for the meeting for two reasons. First that the men might meet each other and become better acquainted; and, second, that they might learn something about the city they live in.

Dr. G. Forrest Martin, chairman of the board of health, was introduced and spoke on the work and problems of the board. He said in part:

"The present board of health is endeavoring to do something. There have been no differences of opinion among its members; we have all been a unit in trying to be progressive and accomplish something worth while. Our one end and aim has been to give absolute justice to every man who comes before us with a complaint.

"There are many ramifications to the work of the board of health. There are 106,000 inhabitants in this city and each inhabitant is allowed 60 cents for its health for 365 days. This department pays the wages of 90 men. It has a corps of teams which collects all ashes from fires of private homes and collects all garbage and swill. Such work is, strictly speaking, not 'health' work, only on the broad ground that keeping clean is the first law of health. Lowell is today a cleaner city than I have ever seen it.

"We haven't succeeded in doing what we set out to do, by any means, but results have gratified us nevertheless. Tuberculosis has given the greatest concern. It is the great problem of the country today.

"The white plague, I am happy to say, is certainly yielding to modern methods of sanitation. It seemed wise, two years ago, to attend to this problem, by looking into its feeding grounds. We felt that the disease was due to unsanitary, filthy tenements in which people were housed. In a large measure, we instructed the office force of the health board to get reports of deaths from the disease for the past five years and to mark on a map, with a blue dot, where each death from tuberculosis had occurred.

"One tenement house, not a stone's throw from this church, in five years had members in four families die. Each death was from tuberculosis. That tenement was a tubercular incubator. When the disease first appeared the patient was lax, and probably spitting about caused the germs to settle. When the first family moved out the landlord couldn't afford to clean things up as they should be and a second family moved in and one member contracted the disease. The virus of tuberculosis is a persistent poison, under certain conditions."

Dr. Martin said that the principal work of the health board concerns contagious diseases, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, smallpox and infantile paralysis.

Speaking of the city's milk supply, he said: "Lowell has shown but little improvement in the quality of its milk supply until recently. There have been 21 epidemics of disease in Massachusetts in recent years, due largely to the carrying power of milk.

"If the citizens of Lowell want clean milk, they will get it. If the work of the board of health has enlightened public sentiment back of it that work will not fail. If a man knows that you want clean milk he will give it to you, because he's in business to supply what his customers want, when he knows that they know what they want."

RELIABILITY

The vestry of the Paige Street church was the scene last evening of the annual meeting of the Lowell Baptist Social Union. Supper was served and during the social hour that followed Miss Ora Sargent gave an organ recital. The soloists were Miss Catherine Gordon and Mr. Albert K. Hurd.

Rev. Benjamin R. Harris, pastor of Paige Street church, invoked the divine blessing, and Rev. A. P. Wedge presided at the after-dinner exercises.

It was voted to authorize the president and treasurer of the Baptist union corporation to execute a deed to the city of Lowell of 123.66 square feet of land in West Sixth street, in consideration of the payment of $50. The land is a part of the premises of the French chapel on Etnell street, and is desired by the city for the purpose of making a driveway to the new fire house.

The annual reports of secretary and treasurer were read, and officers were elected as follows:

President, George H. Taylor; vice presidents, Rev. A. R. Dilts and Mr. Chipman O. Leadbetter; clerk, Orson E. McGregor; treasurer, Henry C. Pulteney; chairman of membership committee, Rev. P. A. Macdonald; chairman of business committee, Willis E. Hatch; chairman social committee, Mrs. Gifford Farley; chairman missionary committee, Warren L. Floyd; auditing committee, Burton H. Wiggin, W. E. Symonds and Albert J. French.

Rev. F. H. Macdonald reported for the membership committee. He urged a more generous response to the call for membership dues of one dollar each, saying that this money represents the missionary treasury of the organization.

The new pastor of the French church, Rev. Mr. Ramette, made a plea for co-operation and support in his work.

The principal speaker of the evening was Rev. Frank W. Padelford of Boston, secretary of the state missionary society. He urged strongly for the need of co-operation in solving the tremendous problems that grow out of the constant flow of foreign immigration. We should recognize that what Lowell is today, and what Massachusetts is, is due to the foreigners. "Lowell would be a little country village, if it were not for the men of the old world. It is the cotton mill that has made Lowell and New England what they are; and their development has been possible because of the numbers of people that have come from Canada and from across the seas. We owe to them, then, certain obligations. They bear their share of our dangers, because their ideals are not ours. What we need first of all is to have toward them the attitude of friendship.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Rev. S. W. Cummings.

The vestry of the Paige Street church was the scene last evening of the annual meeting of the Lowell Baptist Social Union. Supper was served and during the social hour that followed Miss Ora Sargent gave an organ recital. The soloists were Miss Catherine Gordon and Mr. Albert K. Hurd.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Mrs. Emily Lodenburg, widow of Adolph Lodenburg, the banker and one of the most noted horsemen in the Meadowbrook colony, applied to the courts yesterday for an allowance of from $10,000 to $17,000 a year to complete the education of her 16-year-old daughter in Europe. Decision was reserved.

DENIS MURPHY, 18 Appleton St.
FREDERIC B. LEEDS, 5 Bridge St.

According to the application made by Mrs. Lodenburg to surrogate Jackson at Mineola, a young woman who has been brought up in the Meadowbrook set as her daughter, Eugenia Marie, cannot be properly "finished" abroad except by an outlay of thousands of dollars annually.

Two, three or even four years abroad are usually considered necessary for the "finishing" process. This means an establishment in Paris and perhaps one in London also. It means music, painting, dancing under the tutelage of the best and most expensive teachers obtainable. It means the acquisition of French and other modern languages. It means riding, driving and swimming lessons, gymnasium instruction and a thousand and one other accomplishments.

Mrs. Ava Willing Astor has an income of more than $30,000 a year, and half of it is supposed to be spent on her daughter, Muriel, who is 10 years old. Ethel Harriman, daughter of Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, has her own stables at the Harriman estate in Westchester and a suite of rooms of her own in each of the Harriman houses.

The annual reports of secretary and treasurer were read, and officers were elected as follows:

Then there is the cost of a wardrobe, gowns for morning, afternoon and evening. There are riding habits and boxes, and other horses for driving and harnesses and carriages. Then the "grand tour," so the "bud" may be able to talk intelligently of all the well known places, at least, on the continent.

Then there is the outfit for the debut and Paris dressmakers are not noted for moderate charges.

President, George H. Taylor; vice presidents, Rev. A. R. Dilts and Mr. Chipman O. Leadbetter; clerk, Orson E. McGregor; treasurer, Henry C. Pulteney; chairman of membership committee, Rev. P. A. Macdonald; chairman of business committee, Willis E. Hatch; chairman social committee, Mrs. Gifford Farley; chairman missionary committee, Warren L. Floyd; auditing committee, Burton H. Wiggin, W. E. Symonds and Albert J. French.

Mrs. Lodenburg's estimate, compared with the allowances for other daughters of the rich, seems even modest.

Colonel Gaston is prominently mentioned as a candidate for senator.

Rev. F. H. Macdonald reported for the membership committee. He urged a more generous response to the call for membership dues of one dollar each, saying that this money represents the missionary treasury of the organization.

The new pastor of the French church, Rev. Mr. Ramette, made a plea for co-operation and support in his work.

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—Two names were prominently mentioned late yesterday as possible and probable candidates for the democratic nomination for United States senator to succeed Henry Cabot Lodge. Col. William A. Gaston, president of the National Shawmut bank, while not an avowed candidate, is understood to have parties interesting themselves in his canvass. The second candidate is Congressman Joseph F. O'Connell, who lost the nomination for another term in the Dorchester district, and who declares he would have a majority of votes in the democratic caucus.

DISTRICT NURSING

Account of the Work Done During the Past Year

The committee of the Middlesex Women's club in charge of district nursing begs to submit the report of its work covering the period from November 1, 1909 to November 1, 1910. During the year the nurses made 7343 visits to 649 patients—of this number 289 patients received free attendance. To carry on this work required the services of five nurses and an office attendant.

The funds that enabled us to perform this public service were most generously furnished by contributions from The Locks and Canals corporation of $1500. The Middlesex Women's club—$500. The Nesmith fund—$175. The Lowell Dispensary—$50. Friends interested in the work—$210. Early in the year the Metropolitan Life Insurance company requested the committee to consider caring for certain of its policy holders who, when sick, were unable to employ a nurse—an arrangement that this company had made with district nursing associations in several other cities. After careful consideration of the subject it was decided to undertake the work and it was begun on the tenth of March last.

The nurse attending a patient of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company is paid $60. per visit and the sums thus received from these visits have added materially to our cash resources during the year and enabled us to very greatly extend the field of our work. The district nursing committee submits below a detailed statement of its operations during the past year and in closing its report begs to express its deep appreciation of the generous aid it has received from the organizations before mentioned and also to extend its grateful acknowledgment to the many individuals and firms who have assisted in carrying on its work.

DEMURRAGE PLAN

Upheld by the Interstate Board

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The new uniform demurrage rules, applied in a proper spirit, will result in less inconvenience to, and in the payment of less demurrage charges by, the shippers of New England than under the old regulations," announced the Interstate commerce commission yesterday in its formal report on the New England demurrage rules.

The counsel for the shippers and for the railroads already have compromised their differences by agreeing that for six months after Dec. 1 next the free time for holding cars carrying lumber and forest products, coal, grain and grain products be extended from 47 to 48 hours and that on all other cars the free time shall be the uniform 48-hour basis. Meantime the commission is to determine what commodities, if any, should be given a longer free time than the 48-hour standard.

The commission suggested to the New England roads the name of a demurrage officer for that territory, who is to construe the rules and enforce them, pass on doubtful questions and report to the commission on the working of the rules. The railroads have not yet acted upon the suggestion. The report of the commission, written by Commissioner Lane, points out that in the main New England should be able to operate under the same demurrage code which prevails in other parts of the United States and Canada; that the business of a railroad is to transport, not storage; and that detention of a car by a particular shipper for a longer time than necessary for loading or unloading diminishes the road's efficiency and prejudices every other shipper.

It under the peculiar conditions of New England their application results in undue hardships, the rules will be modified.

The second in the series of winter socials at the High Street Congregational church was held last night. Supper was served during the early part of the evening under the direction of Mrs. Frederick Bailey, assisted by a large corps of ladies. At the conclusion of the supper an entertainment program was carried out. Mrs. Harry J. Corwin, a reader, recited Jean Ingelow's "Songs of Seven" tableaux being given in the form of living pictures in representation of Ingelow's conceptions. The entertainment proved to be a

THE SOPHOMORES

Defeated the Textile Freshmen Eleven

The sophomore team of the textile school defeated the freshman team by a score of 16 to 0 on the school campus yesterday afternoon. The sophomores had the better of the argument from the start to the finish of the game and it was but a question of how big the score would be.

The first touchdown was made by a series of straight line plays and a 20 yard run by Frost who scored the touchdown. McDuff failed to kick the goal. Another touchdown was scored after three minutes of play in the second period, the ball being carried over the line by Lamonte. McDuff failed to kick the goal. McDuff made a touchdown in the third period and on this occasion kicked the goal.

GIRLS ARRESTED

WERE CHARGED WITH BREAKING AND ENTERING

QUINCY, Nov. 17.—Two Milton girls who gave their names as Mabel Johnson, aged 16, and Marion Peck, 18, were arraigned in the district court here yesterday morning charged with breaking and entering the homes of two prominent Milton families. William E. C. Eustis and Fred Eustis. The houses were entered some time between June 29, when the families went away for the summer, and Oct. 5, when the servants returned to prepare the houses for the homecomings of the Eustis families.

It was claimed that clothing and jewels amounting to about $300 had been taken from trunks in the attics of the houses, and most of the articles taken were produced in court. Chief of Police Pierce said the clothing had been recovered in Derry, N. H., where the two girls spent part of the summer, and the jewelry, he said, had been pawned in Manchester, N. H. Entrance to one house had been made by breaking a pane of glass in a window and to the other one by means of a key.

The girls are both pretty and they told rather conflicting statements on the witness stand. After listening to the evidence, Judge Avery continued the cases till next Tuesday for final disposition.

FIRE ON WEST STREET

A telephone alarm was sent to the central fire station late yesterday afternoon for a fire which some boys had started in West street. The boys gathered a pile of leaves, papers and old rubbish and then set the pile afire, much to the alarm of the residents of that vicinity. The blaze was speedily extinguished upon the arrival of some of the apparatus.

SPECTACULAR SCENE IN THE

MICHIGAN-PENN. FOOTBALL GAME

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—The new football rules have worked so well this season that there is very little cause for complaint. When the rule makers get together in New York the last week in December there will be further thinking, but for the most part the rules will be left as they are. There are bad features to the code as it now stands, but it will not take any radical treatment to eliminate them. The four period idea, for instance, has met with general approval by the coaches, and the forward has lost many of its objectionable features. The rule prohibiting the pushing of the man with the ball was probably the best bit of legislation ever done by the football rules committee, and the rule prohibiting the flying tackle has also proven a success. There have been many injuries this season, but not so many nor so serious as those of a year ago. Taken all around, the arduous game of today is a big improvement over the old. The rule prohibiting interference with the end in going down under kicks has not interfered any with the running back of punts that goes so far to make a game spectacular. It has necessitated better interference for the receiver and has therefore improved the game. The picture shows Rodgers of Penn taking a forward pass from Scott. Rodgers has just fallen, and Magdosohn of Michigan is about to put his hands on him. Captain Cozens is behind Magdosohn. Halfback Pettigall is seen entirely off the ground except for his right hand. He is at Rodgers in an endeavor to keep him from rising.

FIGHT ON RULES

Insurgents Won Only Part of Their Demands

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—No matter what Champ Clark, the prospective speaker of the next house, may or may not want, it is quite certain that there will be another conflict on the rules when the house reassembles and the fight may even come with the reassembling of congress for the short session a couple of weeks hence.

At the last session a change in the rules was made because of a conflict between the republican and democratic insurgents, and the same combination, both in this house and the next, may be able to override the more conservative element in the same way that Speaker Cannon and his supporters were placed in a minority.

In the last session the speaker was deprived of a great deal of his power by being removed from the committee on rules, but that was only half of what the insurgents wanted. They wanted the committee to be appointed, not by the speaker but by the committee or committees elected by the house, so that it would be impossible for the speaker to control the legislation by making up the committees for or against any measure.

That is the way committees are made up in the senate. The vice president, who is the presiding officer of the senate, does not make up the committees, but a committee on committees is appointed from the majority senators and they select the men to fill vacancies. In the house committees are appointed with the incoming of every congress, but as the senate is a continuing body, and is always organized, it is only necessary for the committee on committees to fill the vacancies caused by death or the retirement of senators.

If the house adopts the same plan the speaker will exercise no more power than the vice president, except that the speaker as a member of the house has the right to vote and to speak on any measure, just like any other member. The vice president, of course, cannot take part in the debate, because he is not a member of that body, and he is permitted to vote only when it is necessary to break a tie.

Representative Norris of Nebraska, the leader of the republican insurgents in the last house, will renew the fight according to word that has been brought to Washington, at the coming session if an opportunity can be found, and certainly when the new congress

assembles. Mr. Norris is a republican and sees no reason why the power that was sought to be taken from a republican speaker, should be left to a democratic speaker.

Some of the democrats are not so anxious to see the speaker, shorn of his power as they were when they were in the minority. In the last session Mr. Clark was quite as much an insurgent on the rules as were Norris and Hurdock of Kansas, and Mr. Gardner, but now Mr. Clark is moving cautiously.

He prefers to "keep an open mind," because whatever he says may hurt his speakership candidacy. If he comes out in favor of the old rules he may lose the support of insurgent democrats, and if he shows himself too radical the conservatives may be induced to throw their strength to another candidate.

A democratic caucus will have to be held to determine the action of the democrats. Such strong men as Hays of Virginia, Henry of Texas and others are outspoken in favor of a radical change in the rules, and it will require a good deal of skill and diplomacy to harmonize the conflicting opinions.

Representative Burgess of Texas has a scheme for making a horizontal reduction in the tariff on many manufactured articles and keeping a revenue tariff on all raw materials.

"I think the democratic house should reduce the duty on iron and steel, wool and cotton and other manufactured articles at least 20 per cent," said Mr. Burgess yesterday. "The duties on those articles are entirely too high."

And I hope the democratic house will pass bills reducing them. "The republicans last year tried to play politics by removing the duty from hides and other articles. The price of hides did not drop and the treasury lost all revenue from hides. I favor a revenue tariff on lumber, hides and other raw materials. I think the democrats should pass bills revising separate schedules of the tariff."

Mr. Burgess favors the appointment of committees by the speaker.

STOCK IS SEIZED

Evasion of Custom Duties Alleged

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The entire stock of Joseph Brookes & Co., an English woolen firm, which has maintained a branch house in New York city for a quarter of a century, was seized by the government last night in an action to recover $200,000 damages, "in consequence of fraud and other wrongful acts."

Alleged evasion of customs dues, disclosed by a former employee of the firm, is the basis for the action. With the seizure of the goods, it became known that the government recently instituted suit against the firm, but being unable to serve the summons in the action because the Brookes are at present in Huddersfield, England, United States District Attorney Wise obtained a writ of attachment yesterday. The stock is valued at almost the amount of the damages claimed by the government.

Peter Redding, until recently a clerk in the firm's employ, gave the information on which the government acted. Special agents, according to Mr. Wise, verified his charges that the company had for years cheated the government by undervaluation of goods and false invoices.

Nicholas C. Brooks, a special agent who worked on the case, submitted an affidavit to Judge Hazel in the United States district court yesterday, who witnessed the attachment.

NATIONAL BASEBALL COMMISSION

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—When the board of arbitration of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues started last night to re-classify certain leagues on the basis of the 1910 census they hit a snag the first thing they didn't have the official figures on some of the cities involved.

Telegrams were flashed to Washington for the information and the totals in the several leagues will be available.

George W. Heckert, owner of the Trenchard, N. J. club, announced that he had purchased Fletcher Evans from Louisville and that he had disposed of Third Baseman Zenta Clayton to the Houston, Tex., club.

San Antonio, Tex., has secured next year's meeting of the National association. The association has wanted to hold its 1915 meeting at San Francisco during the exposition. This was tentatively accepted.

While the status of both the Three I and the Western league is affected by the 1910 census, it is believed that the old vessel agreement which the latter had with the association, will protect its interests against a reduction in classification. There is disposition to question the authenticity of this agreement, although it was a verbal one.

GOV. ELECT FOSS

Mentioned As Presidential Possibility

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Four men—John A. Dix of New York, Gov. Harmon of Ohio, Gov.-elect Wilson of New Jersey and Gov.-elect Eugene A. Foss of Massachusetts are named by Olla James, who is expected to be the next senator from Kentucky, as "available presidential timber."

Congressman James, himself a national figure, is in New York visiting ex-Congressman Joseph L. Rhinock of the 16th Kentucky district. Congressman Rhinock has retired from Kentucky politics, and is now a resident of New York city. Before leaving Kentucky, however, he said to it that his private secretary, Arthur Rouse, was elected his successor to congress.

"The recent election," said Congressman James yesterday, "has developed a number of great men in the democratic party. Dix, Harmon, Wilson and Foss particularly stand out as national figures and presidential timber for the party in 1912."

"After the defeats of 1896 and 1900 everybody said the democratic party was deteriorating; that we had very few big men left in the party. People seemed to think that the republicans had a monopoly on brains and ability for statesmanship and leadership, and that we had no opportunity to develop and show the people what character men we really had in the democratic ranks."

Olla James is one of the most picturesque figures in American politics today. He stated his career as a page in the Kentucky house of representatives, and was named as a boy orator. He has served three terms in congress, and is now slated to succeed T. C. Paynter as U. S. senator from the Blue Grass state.

ISOLATED BY STORMS

CORDOVA, Alaska, Nov. 17.—Isolated by terrible storms, 22 survivors of the wrecked steamer Portland, marooned at Katala, lost their final means of communication with the outside world yesterday, when the last telephone line went down.

Relief cannot reach them for at least four days. As the storms across the copper river flats are not yet frozen, reaching supplies by dog trails is impossible and gigantic seas make any attempt to reach the survivors by boats foolhardy. It is known that the refugees are practically without food.

WOMAN IS GUILTY

Mrs. Frank Averill Was Convicted of Manslaughter

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Nov. 17.—Mrs. Frank Averill, who has been on trial here the past week for the murder of her husband, was yesterday found guilty of manslaughter.

The case was given to the jury shortly after noon yesterday after all the arguments were completed. The jury was out nearly four hours.

Mrs. Averill was nearly prostrated when brought into the courtroom yesterday. When the verdict was announced she broke down and wept. She was led out of the courtroom by the sheriff Mrs. Averill sobbed "O, my baby, my baby."

Mrs. Averill has a little 3-year-old daughter.

Frank Averill was shot at his home, three miles outside of this city, on the night of Oct. 20. Shortly after 9 o'clock that night Averill crawled to the front door of the house of a neighbor, Frank J. Wells, bleeding from a shotgun wound. One of his first statements was that his wife shot him. He was removed to a hospital, where he died the following day. Mrs. Averill was arrested shortly after.

Mrs. Wells testified at the trial that shortly after the shooting Mrs. Averill said that the shooting occurred in the field near her house. Mrs. Averill, however, denied that statement, saying that the shooting occurred in her home, and that she could never herself with that when alone if anyone should attempt to break into the house.

She said that he took the shotgun out of a closet and showed her how to use it. While she was holding the weapon in her hands her husband, she said, disappeared into an adjoining bedroom. She said that she was frightened, alone, and asked Averill to open the door. This he did not do, she said, and holding the gun by the barrels he rapped the muzzle on the door. The gun went off, and she said she heard her husband's body fall on the floor. She said that she broke open the door and that when she saw he was wounded became hysterical. He wanted to have her call a doctor, but she said that she was so dazed she didn't know what she was doing, and that he crawled across the road to the Wells' home.

Mrs. Averill's testimony on the stand differed materially from her statements on the night of the shooting.

Then she is said to have stated that the shooting occurred in a field nearby the house. It was stated at the trial that Mrs. Averill placed the exploded cartridge in the kitchen stove, and that she tried to destroy all evidence of the shooting, but this she emphatically denied.

Mrs. Averill stated while testifying that she held the shotgun by the barrel, but Capt. H. M. Bell of Swanton, a witness for the state, who had experimented with a gun of the same make, declared that in his opinion such a gun could not be discharged unless the person had his finger on the trigger.

Mrs. Averill first became acquainted with Mr. Averill in Cambridge, Mass. They were later married in Worcester, Mass. The couple lived here for several years. Averill was a traveling man.

already there suffering from typhoid fever and three or four more are under suspicion of having the disease. Prof. Henri Marion is also in the hospital from the same cause. Both the water and milk supplies having been proved pure, the authorities are at a loss to account for the outbreak, more especially as it is confined to the naval academy, there not being a single case in this city. The only one of the sick midshipman whose name has become public is T. Starr King, captain and left tackle of the football team.

Health and Beauty Helps

BY MRS. MAJ. MARY W.

Hester: You say you are taking on flesh at a rate that dismays you, and will faithfully follow my advice if I tell you how to secure stylish slenderness and how to get rid of your fat. I do not believe in starving or violent exercise to avoid obesity. Just get four ounces of purgative from your drugstore, dissolve it in 1 1/2 pints of water, and take a tablespoonful of this harmless fat dissolver before each meal. Weigh yourself at the end of each week for four weeks and you will be delighted with the result. You will be lighter in spirit as well as body, for purgative benefits the general health.

Mrs. R.: To allay and soothe the irritation and roughness of your complexion caused by hard water, sun or wind apply a lotion made as follows: Dissolve four ounces of purgative in a half-pint of hot water and add two tablespoonfuls of glycerine. Apply with the palm of the hand and gently rub until dry. Use this inexpensive and excellent face wash daily instead of soap or cosmetic. Purgative preserves the skin and beautifies the complexion, making it soft, smooth and white.

M. S.: I do not think brunettes are envied for their hair, but the hair on the face any more than are blondes. Of course, black or dark hairs are more noticeable. You can easily get rid of them if you will use Delatone. Make a paste by mixing a little of the powder with a little water, cover the skin from which you wish to remove the hair with the paste, wait for two or three minutes, then wipe off the paste and wash the skin thoroughly with warm water. Delatone is pretty expensive. Druggists charge one dollar an ounce, but it is worth it. If the hairs should return they will be thin and almost colorless and another application of Delatone will permanently rid you of them.

Caroline: To secure well-rounded curves you must assimilate the food you eat, have good digestion and good circulation. I would advise you to try egg-o-lene compound tablets, for they help not only your thin neck, shoulders and bust, but will make your whole figure full and plump. Ova testis and Lecithin are the most reliable flesh builders known. They are derived from eggs and form the principal ingredients in egg-o-lene compound tablets. You can buy the tablets from your druggist at a dollar a box—a complete two weeks' treatment. In ordinary cases a thin person gains from ten to twenty-five pounds in thirty days.

W. J. G.: Especially at this season of the year you should be feeling energetic, full of life and have a good appetite. Even though you do not feel really sick, you should take a good tonic to rid your blood of its impurities and build up your health and strength generally. Get an ounce of egg-o-lene compound tablets and dissolve it with half a cup of sugar in a half pint of alcohol; then add enough hot water to make full quart. This is a splendid remedy for that run-down, tired, indifferent feeling you speak of. Take a tablespoonful before each meal and in a short time you will restore your plumpness and liver blotches which now annoy you.

Lucy M.: You have made a great mistake in neglecting your hair, so long. But it is not too late to restore it to its former beauty, even if it is falling, scurfy and weak hair. I think you should use a good quinine hair tonic. It will accomplish wonders. To make this tonic, get one ounce of quinine from your druggist, dissolve it in one-half pint of alcohol and add one-half pint of water. Rub this tonic into the scalp and hair roots two or three times a week, and it will restore your scalp to a healthy condition, feed the hair follicles, giving your hair new life and causing it to grow in thick, long and glossy. Your sister will find the same quinine tonic the right and true remedy for her falling, dull and brittle hair. It will stop the splitting and breaking in one or two applications, but she should continue its use for several weeks and resume the treatment whenever her hair requires it. Read answer to Hermione.

Hermione: You must get the dandruff off your head. Dandruff is a hair destroyer; it chokes the hair, kills it and causes it to fall out. Don't use soap for shampooing; soap leaves the scalp dry and hard, and streaks the hair. I know of only one perfect hair restorer. It is a cathartic pill—first-class druggists sell it. Just dissolve a teaspoonful of cathartic in a cup of hot water; pour on the head a little at a time and rub well—precisely as you would with any other shampoo; then rinse the hair and scalp thoroughly with clean warm water. It cures dandruff, and makes the hair soft, bright and fluffy. For a hair tonic, use quinine—described in a preceding paragraph.

A. B. R.: It has been indeed a trying season for even the strongest eyes, and are only one of thousands who are suffering from sore, red and inflamed eyes. To relieve the irritation, redness and granulated lids, get an ounce of crystals from your druggist, dissolve it in a pint of water, and drop one or two drops in each eye whenever the eyes feel tired, weak or sore. The use of this home-made eye tonic gives brilliancy and expression to the eyes, keeping them clear and bright. It is a favorite toilet adjunct with actresses and society women.

"Betty": I don't know who said "Any fool can catch a husband, but it takes a wise woman to keep one"—but it comes pretty near to being true. For the sake of your present and future happiness, don't neglect your complexion—don't let your skin become sallow, dark, coarse or rough; don't let it wrinkle or sag. Use this home-made cream-jelly for massaging and as a face cream. Get from your druggist one ounce of nitroglycerin, dissolve it in a half-pint of cold water, add two tablespoonfuls of glycerine, stir well and let stand overnight. This is "the cream without grease"—it will cause hair to grow. Gently massage your face and neck and you will find it acts as a face cream. It is the deepest layers, the deepest tissues the deepest pores and there works like Nature for each man and in a short time you will restore your plumpness and liver blotches which now annoy you.

BIG CAMPAIGN EXPENSES

It is rather a regrettable commentary upon the method of conducting elections that it is necessary to expend large sums of money in order to secure election to public office. The reported returns of election expenses show that Governor-elect Foss spent $37,000 in his campaign, and Governor Draper $17,000. The expenses of Mr. Foss seem to be entirely abnormal, and yet we do not believe he would authorize the expenditure of a single dollar unlawfully. The money was given to the democratic state committee and other committees engaged in conducting rallies and getting out the vote.

It is easy to see that in such a way a large amount might be easily expended throughout the state. But it should not be necessary for a candidate for governor to spend any large sum in order to secure election. The fact that a large amount is spent by one candidate for office is a barrier to the selection of a man who has no money to spend. Thus it can be easily seen that the expenditure of large sums in political campaigns may operate in two different ways. It may cause the voters to favor a man on account of his money, and it may bar a poor man from office.

Mr. Foss made a very vigorous and active campaign throughout the state. The time at his disposal was short and for that reason he had to incur extraordinary expenses that would not otherwise be necessary. Besides, the political committees that were given authority throughout the state to incur expenses didn't hesitate to go ahead, knowing that Mr. Foss would foot the bills.

We haven't the slightest doubt that Mr. Foss himself is as astonished at the size of the bills as much as anybody. Another reason for the large expenditure is, that the democratic party was in a disorganized condition, and it required a good deal of hard work to get the rank and file organized for effective work. We surmise that quite as much was spent to help Draper as for the election of Foss. The difference was, however, that in the one case the bills were footed by Foss and in the other many of them were paid by the friends of the candidate.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENTARY CRISIS

Hon. John Redmond, the leader of the Irish party in parliament, is being criticized by the Tory press of England as coming home to make another assault upon the British constitution with the aid of American dollars. The press of London in particular has gotten up a groundless scare on this score by saying that Mr. Redmond comes home with $200,000. This statement is absurd.

It is true that at the Buffalo convention the sum of $150,000 was pledged for the next two years, but the only money Mr. Redmond will get now is the amounts actually raised in cities such as Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Buffalo and one or two others. The entire amount will probably not exceed $50,000 if it would reach that sum, so that the press of London is overstating the amount of Mr. Redmond's financial strength. This statement is sent out for the purpose of discrediting the Irish leader and causing his constituents to believe that he has unlimited money at his command.

The money which Mr. Redmond receives from this country is expended for three purposes. First—To conduct the organization of the United Irish League, that is, to organize and pay for public meetings, and to pay the expenses of sending literature throughout the country and even abroad. The second source of expense is the payment of the Irish members of parliament who are held in London and required to give all their time to the service of the party and the cause. Some members do not need any assistance, but pay their own expenses while giving their time and labor to the struggle. Others, and they are in the majority, cannot support themselves and remain continually in London working for the parliamentary party under Mr. Redmond.

So long as the funds are sufficient to meet the expenditure the latter are paid $1500 a year, and that does not afford them any luxuries for the cost of living is high in London, and they have a variety of incidental expenses that very quickly eat up their annual allowance. The cost of conducting elections constitutes the third drain upon the resources of the party.

In England all election expenses, even to the printing of the ballots, are paid by the candidates. Where the Irish party has charge of over eighty seats, many of them hotly contested, the expense of a general election is never under $50,000. Were it not for the assistance from this country Mr. Redmond would not have been able to gather about him the bright galaxy of able men that he has in parliament, all pledged to sit and act and vote together as one body. It is by acting as a unit on every question that comes up that they make themselves a dominating force in parliament.

At the present time the Irish party holds the balance of power in the house of commons and thus Mr. Redmond as leader and head of the party holds a commanding position that enables him to dictate terms to the British ministry.

It seems that Premier Asquith has consulted the king in regard to creating a sufficient number of liberal peers to form a majority in the upper house and thus ensure the passage of a measure reforming that body, so as to take away its veto power on measures passed by the lower house. The king hesitates at this serious step and has called a meeting of the privy council, the leaders of both parties, to advise him as to the proper course of action. What the king dislikes is the necessity of taking sides between the two houses and against that to which he himself belongs, the titled aristocracy. But if Premier Asquith appeals to the country he will receive a decisive verdict against the house of lords. If the crisis could be met by the formation of a new cabinet and the entailment of the power of the peers, the country would be saved the turmoil and expense of a general election.

SEEN AND HEARD

A young lady with a hobble skirt and other giddy attire descended from a Danvers car the other afternoon, and the glances of the Town of the square, and headed for the depot with a gait that would do justice to a race horse. While alighting from the car she had to jump, and, wearing French heels upon her dainty shoes, landed on terra firma with a jar that shook her all over. Some of the boys followed her as far as the station and one of them says that the brakeman had to assist her on the train, as it was impossible for her to move her pedal extremities. The skirt bound her so tightly about the lower section.—(Salem News.)

ONE GLIMPSE OF HEAVEN

Love in a cottage or palace,
Love on a throne, or the street,
Is life's greatest comfort and solace,
And makes mere existence seem sweet.
And we know, midst our tears and our laughter,
No matter how worthy or vile—
It is all, either here or hereafter,
That makes our existence worth while.

Without love, how paltry are riches,
Without it, how cruel is pride,
Without it, even Fame's laurels wither,
With no love joy ever has died.
It brightens the dreariest hour,
It lightens the heaviest load,
It is life's choicest, costliest jewel,
Free to each who travels her road.

It comes to make life worth the living,
It gives us the strength to endure
The struggle, forever forgiving
Injustice, because we are sure
Of a heaven awaiting hereafter
From the moment our hearts shall give birth
To love, midst our tears and our laughter.

It's our one glimpse of Heaven, on earth.

The young son of a prominent railway man was playing with the drawing room chairs one afternoon when his father entered, accompanied by a gentleman whom the child had never particularly fancied.

As the visitor took a chair, the boy remonstrated. "I beg your pardon, sir, but this is a chair of cars."

"Very well, my son," was the answer. "I'll be a passenger."

But the youngster didn't want the grown-up for a passenger, so he said: "Where do you wish to get off?"

"Cincinnati,"

"All right," said the boy. "This is Cincinnati."—(Lippincott's.)

Hubby (with irritation)—"Why is it that you women insist upon having the last word?"

Wife (calmly)—"We don't. The only reason we get it is because we always have a dozen arguments left when you stupid men are all run out."

Why People Lose Their Hair

The most common cause of loss of hair, dandruff and itching scalp is neglect. Leading authorities like Dr. J. C. Hayes and Dr. Woods Hutchinson of New York, and Professor Lassar of Germany, recommend frequent washing. The best thing for the purpose is a shampoo made of fine Soap, Glycerin, White of Eggs, Coconut Oil and Salicylic Acid. Birt's Head Wash contains these ingredients. It cleans the hair, opens up the pores of the scalp, and is invigorating to the hair roots, and does more to prevent the loss of hair than all so-called "tonics" put together. Tubes 25c, jars 50c.

A PITIFUL CASE

Greek Woman Dies Upon Arrival in New York

On the threshold of the Land of Promise, her husband within, awaiting with outstretched arms to welcome her to a comfortable home in a strange but hospitable country, Mrs. Helen Coronios, wife of George Coronios, a barber in the local Greek colony, succumbed to an attack of pneumonia at the immigration station in New York a few days ago.

To make the case more distressing her two little children, whom she brought with her are down with diphtheria in a New York hospital.

Mrs. Coronios was taken from the ship which had brought her to this country to the hospital at the immigration station, where she died last Thursday. The children were left at the immigration station to await the arrival of their father and when they were taken down with diphtheria and were removed to a contagious disease hospital.

George Coronios arrived in New York too late to see his wife alive. He has been a resident of Lowell for several years and is known as a popular member of the Greek colony. As soon as he had accumulated a sufficient amount of money to establish a comfortable home for his family he sent for them to come. Mrs. Coronios and her children set forth with all haste and the mother was taken ill while the ship was nearing its destination. The body of Mrs. Coronios will be brought to this city for burial. Undertakers C. H. Molloy & Sons having charge of the arrangements. The husband and father, who did not know of the illness of his wife until his arrival in New York, was overcome by the shock of the news. He will bring his two children here when they have recovered.

MINISTER'S WIFE

HAS HIM ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF ASSAULT

WORCESTER, Nov. 17.—With his collar dyed scarlet by blood flowing from a cut in the side of his head, and attempting to stop the flow by means of a large towel, Rev. William H. Davenport, until recently pastor of Zion A. M. E. church, called at police headquarters yesterday with his wife to have the officials put an end to his family troubles. The session ended with his being placed under arrest and booked on a charge of assault and battery on Mrs. Davenport.

The couple arrived at headquarters together shortly before 4 o'clock and both tried to talk at once, the minister declaring that his condition was due to an assault on him by his wife. He claimed she hit him a clip on the left side of the head with something that opened the scalp. Mrs. Davenport acknowledged she did it, but said she had been driven to it by years of abuse and she had got to the end of her patience. She declared she had been abused by her husband almost every day for several years and she did not intend to stand it any longer.

In view of their position, the police officials advised them to go home and keep the peace unless they wanted to suffer from the publicity that would necessarily follow an arrest. Rev. Mr. Davenport was willing, but Mrs. Davenport was not.

Pelt was taken to the Lawrence Jail yesterday afternoon to await the next sitting of the grand jury. He is aged 24.

GREENFIELD, Nov. 17.—Daniel D. BRITISH PARLIAMENT MAN ARRESTED CHANGE IN VENUE

May be Dissolved November 28,
According to Report

LONDON, Nov. 17.—An apparently inspired statement issued today fixes Nov. 28 as the date for the dissolution of parliament. The government, it is asserted, designs to pass the budget before appealing to the country, the debate on the financial measure proceeding in the house of commons while the lords are discussing the veto bill. That the "American dollar" and the "Irish dictator" will figure largely in the unionist campaign was indicated by the excitement at the annual conference of conservative associations at Nottingham this morning when Henry Chaplin, unionist member of parliament from Wimbledon and former president of the local government board, in an opening speech, denounced the government, which he said was handing over the rule of the British people to the members of England, who, with foreign gold, aspire to dictate our destinies.

OBSERVATORY COMPLETED

ROME, Nov. 17.—A ceremony in celebration of the completion of the Vatican observatory under the direction of Father Hagen, the Jesuit astronomer, was held in the papal apartment today. It had been planned to have the exercises at the observatory, but although the pontiff is quite well, the weather is unfavorable and His Holiness feared to venture out. A speech was made by Cardinal Mailli, president of the observatory, to which the pope replied, highly commending the work of Father Hagen.

TO ENTERTAIN AMERICANS

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The lord mayor and corporation will entertain a large number of American officers and men at luncheon in Guild hall during the stay of the American fleet in the Thames. The corporation today voted an expenditure of $10,000 for this purpose. The date of the occasion has not yet been determined.

A large body of men from the Mississippi came into town today and drove about in carriages and taxis.

Charged With Having Killed Women

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 17.—Confessing, according to the police, that he had committed the crime, a foreigner who is charged with having shot and killed Mrs. Charles Richards and fatally injured her daughter, Mrs. Peter Pauls, after having been caught stealing at their home near here last night, was arrested in Reading today and brought to the Schuylkill county jail. The prisoner, who is known as Frank Mitchell, was employed on the Faulds farm.

MANY SIGNATURES

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Solicitor Newton has secured several thousand signatures to a petition for a reprieve for his client, Dr. Hawley Crippen, sentenced to die on Wednesday next for the murder of his wife, the actress, Belle Elmore. It is probable that the petition will be presented to Home Secretary Churchill today.

FEDERATION OF LABOR

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 17.—British fraternal delegates Den Turner and William Bruce, a member of parliament, addressed the American Federation of Labor convention this morning. Rev. Charles Steele of New York, head of the department of church and labor in the Presbyterian church, also spoke. The fight for recognition of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers factions was scheduled to be resumed today.

A mass meeting for the women delegates was held in a separate hall. Tonight the annual banquet will be given to the delegates and visitors.

Petition Presented to Supreme Court

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—The supreme court was asked today to order a change in venue in the trial of former City Treasurer Crocker, Charles Leach, and John J. Conroy, under indictment for alleged bribery of a jury that broke the will of Crocker's father four years ago. A year after the jury broke the will one member was sent to the house of correction for receiving a bribe and later another man pleaded guilty to the charge of bribing the jury. Crocker and his two brothers benefited through the breaking of the will, which left the greater part of the property to their stepmother.

The superior court refused to order a change of venue and Mr. Crocker's lawyer today petitioned for a writ of mandamus to compel the lower court to exercise its authority, which he said was inherited from the common law and the king's bench of England.

NEW CUNARD STEAMSHIP

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The specifications issued today for the new Cunard line steamship call for a vessel 27 feet longer than the White Star line Olympic, at present the biggest vessel in the world, but of slightly smaller displacement. The new Cunarder will be 385 feet long with a total displacement of 50,000 tons. A speed of 23 knots an hour is expected of the vessel, which will be propelled by turbines and the use of oil for fuel will be possible if such use is deemed advisable.

PROBABLY FATAL SHOT

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—A worker by day and burglar by night, Michael Herlihy, a husky youth of 19, was caught red-handed with his "lookout" today looking a butcher shop on Avenue A. The two robbers fled down the avenue and Patrolman Mori dropped Herlihy with a shot which pierced his back. Bellevue physicians say Herlihy will die.

BOTH DIED SUDDENLY

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Two of the best known commission men at the Union stockyards died unexpectedly of heart trouble at their Chicago residences last night. They were Thomas Kelly and W. W. Shearer. Mr. Kelly, who is said by friends to have amassed a fortune of $2,000,000, was president of the National Live-stock Commission Co., with branches in St. Louis, Kansas City and Fort Worth. He was largely interested in Texas and Oklahoma lands and was one of the largest breeders of cattle in the country. He was 52 years old. Mr. Shearer, who was a close friend of Mr. Kelly, had been connected with the Chicago stock yards for nearly forty years.

TO ENTERTAIN AMERICANS

CHERBOURG, Nov. 17.—The streets were animated today by the presence of American bluejackets, who fraternized with the French seamen. The city is preparing a festival at the municipal theatre for the entertainment of the visitors.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 17.—The operation of woman suffrage and its local effect was a subject which received pretty close attention at the closing sessions of the combined national conference and annual meeting of the National Municipal League today. Miss Mary Winsor of Haverford, Pa., president of the Pennsylvania Limited Suffrage League, presented a digest of data recently collected with reference to the operation of woman suffrage in Colorado. Much of the information was obtained through letters obtained through many persons of prominence in civic affairs.

MEMORIAL HALL

PLAN TO HAVE ONE IN NATIONAL CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Two million dollars as the share to be raised by the George Washington Memorial association and $250,000 to be raised by Washingtonians is the basis upon which Granville Hunt, chairman of the Washington chamber of commerce, is working to obtain a memorial hall for the national capital.

Mr. Hunt and Mrs. Henry Dimock, sister of the late W. C. Whitney of New York and president of the George Washington association, have been in conference here and both are working earnestly in an effort to get a hall with adequate facilities for accommodating the largest convention. Mr. Hunt said today that he was confident of success and that the business men here already have pledged $14,000. Mrs. Dimock has suggested stimulating interest broadcast by including in the proposed building plans for separate rooms for every state in the union appropriating money in furtherance of the project.

WOMEN VOTE

ELECTION JUDGE WANTS TO KNOW HOW TO STOP THEM

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 17.—B. L. Barry, election judge at Dayton, Ore., has written to Attorney General Crawford stating that women in his village are in the habit of voting and he wants to know what can be done to keep the gentler sex away from the voting booths, where the men are. How long the women of the little town have been casting votes Mr. Barry fails to say. The attorney general wrote advising Barry that it is the duty of Oregon election judges to eject woman voters, except at school elections. Mr. Barry is rather uncomfortable, being, as he says, between the devil and the deep blue sea.

NEW BILLIARD RECORD

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Calvin Demarest, the young local billiard player, in practice last night hung up a new record for the 18.2 style of play. He made 312, breaking the best previous mark either in practice or in competition of 307, made by Willie Hoppe in 1903 at the All-Star tournament in Orchestra hall.

CAPT. JAMES DEAD

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 17.—Captain Martin S. James, a well known Civil war veteran and for the past ten years head of the Rhode bureau of this city, died at the Rhode Island hospital early today of uraemic poisoning. He was 71 years old. At the close of the war Captain James was assigned by the government to dismount all the cannon around Richmond. He was also commissioned to do some special work for the government in the Spanish war. He is survived by a son and a daughter.

TO SIGN CONTRACTS

CINCINNATI, Nov. 17.—Pitcher Muren is in Cincinnati in company with Hans Robert of the Philadelphia team and today will call upon President Hermann and sign his contract to play with Cincinnati next year. He says Eddie Grant ought to be in Cincinnati today and that he will sign without question. Each of them will receive $500 in addition to the salary they had last year. Muren says his only reason for holding out was to let the controversy between Hermann and Fogel be settled.

POPULATION OF AUSTRALIA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Advance estimates of the population of the commonwealth of Australia, made by the federal statistician, places the total number of people in the six states at 4,474,000, according to consular reports received here. The taking of the decennial census will be begun on April 1, 1911, and allowing for a normal increase before that date, the population is expected to reach 4,500,000. This would represent an increase during the past decade of about 725,000.

The cost of the food spoiled by mistakes in regulating the ordinary two-damper ranges amounts to a large sum.

The Single Damper of the Crawford affords absolute fire and oven control by one motion—slide the knob to "kindle," "bake" or "check," the range does the rest.

The Oven of the Crawford has cup-joint heat flues which heat everywhere alike and make it the quickest and surest of bakers.

The Two Hods (patented) in the base—one for ashes instead of the old clumsy ash pan—one for coal, is a great trouble-saving feature.

A Badge of Honesty

Is printed on the outer wrapper of every bottle of
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

and it is the only medicine for woman's peculiar ailments, sold by druggists, the makers of which feel fully warranted in thus taking the afflicted into their full confidence

The more known about the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the more confidently will invalid women rely upon it to cure their peculiar weaknesses and derangements. There's no secrecy about its make-up—no deceptive inducements held out to the afflicted. It's simply a good, honest, square-deal medicine with no alcohol, or injurious, habit-forming drugs in its composition. Made wholly from roots. It can do no harm in any condition of woman's organism.

Devised and put up by a physician of vast experience in the treatment of woman's maladies. Its ingredients have the indorsement of leading physicians in all schools of practice.

The "Favorite Prescription" is known everywhere as the standard remedy for diseases of women and has been so regarded for the past 40 years and more. Accept no secret nostrum in place of "Favorite Prescription"—a medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION, with a record of 40 years of cures behind it.

It's foolish and often dangerous to experiment with new or but slightly tested medicines—sometimes urged upon the afflicted as "just as good" or better than "Favorite Prescription." The dishonest dealer sometimes insists that he knows what the proffered substitute is made of, but you don't and it is decidedly for your interest that you should know what you are taking into your stomach and system expecting it to act as a curative. To him it's only a difference of profit. Therefore, insist on having Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

HAS NERVOUS TROUBLE

Pace Too Speedy for Champion Jack Johnson

Champion Will Quit Stage This Week and Take a Much Need- ed Rest—Had Attack of Ner- vous Trouble in Lawrence— Champion Talks With The Sun's Sporting Writer

"Lil Artha's nerves has done gone back on him and he's gwine back to Chiclay to his dear ol' mammy."

John Arthur Johnson, world's champion pugilist, who put Jeffries out of commission at Reno and subsequently got Barney Oldfeld in bad with the autoists, standing 228 pounds in his blue silk undershirt, last evening, informed the sporting writer of The Sun that the constant excitement that has attended his career since that glorious Fourth of July when he delivered the wallop heard round the world, has been too much for him and he is forced to quit and retire to the simple life for a much needed rest.

The champ came to Lowell in a big touring car to appear at the Opera House last evening in connection with a vaudeville show which he heads and

as soon as the news of his arrival in town spread about, business began to boom at the Richardson hotel, where he was registered.

Sports, near-sports and pikers lined the office and the cafe discussing all the fights that have occurred since David, met Goliath at catch weights and with a brace in the old days before Marquis of Queensbury had come on earth with a set of inviolable ring rules. Johnson is a distant relative of "Bill" Hazard, the popular night clerk at the Richardson and an old friend of John Dawson, and these two were kept busy giving the sports tips on Johnson's life and record. Mr. Dawson was able to assist in handing out the salve by an ancient copy of the Police News containing a sketch of Johnson, which he had carefully concealed about his person.

Some joker started a groundless report to the effect that Patey Lynch, the Richardson hotel barber, had politely but firmly declined to wield a razor over the features of the champ and for half an hour Patey was the cynosure of all eyes while the small boys looked with open-mouthed wonderment at the diminutive tonsorialist who had dared to say "nay" to the champion.

Upon arriving at the hotel Johnson went directly to his suite of rooms where he remained until 10 o'clock, when he went to the Opera House, running the gauntlet of a great crowd some of whom remained about the hotel for hours in the hope of getting a glimpse of him. At one time there were over 1500 men and boys in and about the hotel while Officer Clark was kept busy keeping the sidewalk clear. Similar conditions prevailed in Central street near the Opera House, where a great crowd assembled before and after the show, greeting the champion with cheers.

Johnson gave the sporting editor of The Sun a most cordial greeting as he entered the room and he made a most favorable impression upon his guest. Of all the champions from Sullivan down, barring perhaps Corbett, Johnson shows most refinement of manner and is the best talker. He writer, Johnson said: "I went bad at Lawrence Saturday night and have not felt right since and thus I am going to cancel my engagement with the end of the week and return to Chicago to see my mother and fix up some business matters and then I will go to the coast. I will get out on a ranch or farm and have a good rest. After that, when I fully recover, I shall go across the pond and tour Europe, but there'll be nothing doing until I feel right. Physically, I feel well and strong, but it's my nerves. Between the light, automobile, vaudeville and law suits I haven't had a quiet moment for over six months, and I tell you it gets the strongest man, I don't care who he is. On Saturday night while in my rooms at the Franklin house after the show, my head suddenly went bad. I couldn't remember where I was or what I was doing. Going over the road so much and carrying such an amount of jewelry with me, I always have a revolver in my possession and I had just presence of mind enough to call to my wife to take the revolver and hide it. I was really afraid of myself and feared that I might do something desperate. I then went to a faucet and let the cold water run on my head, which relieved me slightly, while my wife summoned a physician, a Dr. Cutter, I believe. Dr. Cutter diagnosed my case as nervous prostration, and stated that I would have to quit the stage and take a rest. I felt better Sunday and Monday in Haverhill I sharply sparred with my partner, Walter Monahan, and cut out the speech making. Monday night, however, I felt bad again and was attended by a doctor in Haverhill. In Salem yesterday I felt none too good and so I decided after finishing the week, to return to Chicago. We play in Bangor. It was our intention to open in New Bedford next week and we were to play continuously to Jan. 1. I dislike to cancel my contract, not alone for the financial part of it, but because I have been advertised ahead and don't like to disappoint the public. I have been very successful and have made a lot of money. What a fool I'd be to lose my health before I had had a chance to enjoy any of it. They say John D. Rockefeller would give a million dollars if he could enjoy a square meal. If John D. Rockefeller can't buy good health, you can bet Jack Johnson never can. I'm going to hold mine while I have it. My mother has heard so many stories about me since I became the champion that she is worrying greatly about me. She is 67 years old. As soon as this happened I wrote her not to worry if she read in the papers that I was sick and go direct to her Bangor on Sunday. I used to think it was great to travel from place to place but I've had enough of it. If I could go out in my city or any other and have a quiet walk with my wife and the shop windows, everything would be fine, but I can't move, but what there's a mob after me and while they are very annoying you can't get mad at them and you can't shake them."

The champion had little to say about his fight with Jeffries, remarking: "That's an old story now, and you read all about it at the time. I'll say one thing, however, that we had more fun in Reno in nine days than I've ever had in any nine days in my life. It's certainly one fine little town." While talking about fighting Johnson said: "By the way, this is the home of George and Jamie Gardner, two fine boys. George Gardner and I are old friends and good ones and he is very well thought of in Chicago. I was much disappointed over his defeat by Fitz, as I surely thought George would turn the trick. You have another great boy and a perfect gentleman here in Joe Thomas. Joe is one of the biggest ring favorites in the west."

Asked about his sparring partner, Johnson said: "Walter Monahan is a youngster who hails from Frisco. When he first came to the training quarters he was a thorough greenhorn with the gloves, but he showed promise and he is coming along finely. I think he is a comer."

Johnson appeared on the stage at the Opera House shortly before 10 o'clock and a large audience greeted him. He sparred three rounds with Monahan but made no speech.

The vaudeville features were varied. The Tourist Trio company was seen in an entertaining comedy playlet, entitled "Squabbles." Coda Weston made a fine impression as a character comedienne. Nelson, Oswald and Berger and the two Wilkins were other entertainers. James Morrison & Co. gave a comedy drama entitled "The Verdict," and after Harry Dare, a musical performer, had appeared, Johnson and Monahan closed the program.

MOON'S ECLIPSE

Witnessed by Thousands of Persons

Thousands of persons who ordinarily pay no attention to astronomical phenomena studied the heavens last night with glass or the unaided eye to observe the total eclipse of the moon, which was predicted by astronomers many months ago.

The bright face of Mme. Luna, was obscured by the ungallant earth, which, in its journey around the sun, interposed its bulk so that the sun's rays were shut off and the brightest orb of night was a mere disk of darkness for three hours.

The first indentation of the bright new moon took place at 5.44 at a point on the lower half of the lunar disk. The shadow swept gradually across the moon until at 6.55 it completely covered it, and the eclipse was total until 7.47.

It was an impressive spectacle to those unfamiliar with the wonders of the sidereal heavens. For the glowing circle of silver paled and a dull red-brown hue succeeded, which in turn gave way to positive darkness. The last indentation of the disk disappeared at 8.58, and soon after the moon shone as brightly as if it had never been eclipsed.

The meteorological conditions were excellent for observation, as the sky was cloudless and there was little wind stirring. The moon was in plain sight above the horizon when the eclipse began and climbed higher and higher, so that it was nearly half way to the zenith when it was in totality.

COUNTER SUITS

Resulting From an Auto Accident

The cases of William H. Sexton and Maurice O'Brien against the Boston Elevated which has been on trial for the past two days at the superior court went to the jury shortly before noon today.

The next case in order is of the double-headed nature inasmuch as there is a counter suit. The parties are Daniel Leary and Ernest Lundgren and each is suing the other. The suits grow out of an accident on the boulevard in which autos owned by each collided.

Messrs. Enright and Fox appear for Mr. Leary and Messrs. McIntire and Wilson for Mr. Lundgren.

AMERICAN SAILORS
ARE HAVING A GREAT TIME IN PARIS

PARIS, Nov. 17.—Groups of American bluejackets visiting Paris are everywhere objects of interest and are cordially welcomed. One hundred men from the battleship Georgia arrived from Brest this morning. As they passed out of the railroad station they were repeatedly photographed by representatives of the Paris papers.

Two hundred jacksies are coming in from Cherbourg this afternoon. The system of giving the men shoreleave in batches of 100 and 200 will be continued throughout the visit. Each group will remain in Paris five days. American Ambassador Bacon and Lieutenant Commander Chapin, American naval attaché, are arranging with an agency for excursions of the men to points of interest, including drives to Versailles and Fontainebleau. Mr. Bacon will give a dinner to the officers of the fleet.

SAM WALTER FOSS CLUB

The S. W. F. L. club held its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Meador, No. 327 Beacon street. The president, Mrs. French, presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Meador and Mrs. Baker were the hostesses of the afternoon. Mrs. Baker took charge of the literary program. The first number was a piano solo by Miss Hardy, after which Mrs. Baker in a few well chosen words introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Rev. Allan Perrin of the High street church. Rev. Mr. Kennett was to have spoken, but having been called away Mr. Perrin kindly consented to speak in his stead. The subject chosen by the speaker was "Edward Markham, the poppy poet and prophet of the poor." His address was well worth listening to and his rendering of some of the poet's best writings, especially "The Man With the Hoe" and one about Abraham Lincoln was interesting and inspiring. At the conclusion of the address Miss Lena Bowen sang a solo. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses. Mrs. Etta French and Mrs. Foss poured, assisted by Mrs. Gilmore, Mrs. McDonald, Miss Charlotte Meador, Mrs. Cheney, Mrs. Pickering, Mrs. E. M. Wheeler and Mrs. Adams. The club entertained as guests the Lucy Lacombe club of Tewksbury. The next meeting will be held December 7 at the home of Mrs. Pratt, No. 260 Walker street.

The public will remember that last June I had to raise a large sum of money to pay my retiring partner, and assumed full control of the business. Since then I have bought an enormous stock and the bills are now due. I have to meet my obligations and the creditors are clamoring for their money. If I had more time to raise this cash I would not have to take such a big loss. But this loss is your gain—And I expect this week the biggest crowds that ever attended a furniture sale. WOBURN FIREMEN A JAIL SENTENCE

Showed Some Class in Hose Instead of Fines for Officials of Coupling Contest Corporations

Took All Three Prizes at Contest Held by Butler Vets in Associate Hall Last Evening—13th Annual Ball of Butlers

The Butler Vets always have some especially enjoyable feature at all their affairs and at their 13th annual contest and ball last evening they pulled off a hose coupling contest, something new to Lowell, and it made a big hit with the large attendance present.

Hose coupling contests date back to the days of hand tubs, and the conditions are these: A team consists of two men, and they direct themselves of their outer clothing and lie down in their underwear in two beds placed on the stage. They are required to re- pose with their heads firmly on the pillows, both shoulders down and limbs out straight. At the sound of the gong they dash from their beds, put on their caps and outer clothing, including rubber boots, connect 50 feet of hose to hydrant, put gate on opposite side, go back and connect pipe to hose and drop pipe to line on floor. The time is taken from the sound of the alarm to the dropping of the pipe.

One would think that it would take several minutes to do all that work, but not so with the fire ladders, for the world's record is 12-2-5 seconds, the time that it takes most sprinters to do 100 yards.

Last night's best time, 17-1-5 seconds, was considered "dead slow."

There were eight teams entered and

JAMES H. WALKER,
General Manager.

ix of them put in an appearance. The first prize, $15, was won by W. H. and Thomas Hammond of Woburn, who did the job in 17-1-5 seconds; the second prize, $10, also went to Woburn, the team being Daniel H. Kerrigan and James H. Hammond, whose time was 20-5 seconds. Woburn also carried the third prize, $5. Ernie Simonds and Warren Gowing making it in 20-4-5 seconds. Joseph Tansley and Fred Newell of Stoneham did the quickest job but were disqualified for not coupling properly. Messrs. Bachelder and Winchester of Peabody did the job in 23 seconds and Henry Hilton and John H. Buckley of Gloucester were disqualified. The judges were Chief E. S. Somner, Capt. David J. Hurley, Lieut. Ben. Dunn, Officer Mat. F. McCann, R. C. Paradis and James Hearn. The contest was exciting and the winners were given rounds of applause.

After the contest the dance was on and the music of Hildred's orchestra and the moon had long since emerged from its eclipse when the last waltz was whirled.

The officers of the 13th annual ball were as follows:

General manager, James H. Walker; assistant manager, John C. Cook; floor marshal, Harry E. Clat; assistants, Martin F. Kennedy, Peter MacKenzie, chief aids, Fred A. Tucker, James F. Ryan, C. H. Cochran, J. F. Furlong, F. O'Brien, W. J. Eastman, F. Murphy, R. Jones, F. Mallory, A. Santier, A. A. Graham, R. Sloan, A. I. Hawkins, J. A. Finnegan, T. F. Dwyer, J. J.

STATE CONFERENCE

Of Massachusetts Bricklayers to be Held Here

Local Union Made Plans for Conference at Special Meeting Held Last Evening—Local Jobs for Union Bricklayers Go Begging, as All Are Working

A good sign of prosperity was evidenced at the special meeting of the bricklayers' union last evening when it was announced that contractors were looking for union bricklayers to go to work at once in this city but couldn't get them because they were all working.

That means that all the bricklayers of Lowell are working, because practically all are union men and the local union rarely has any trouble over the employment of non-union men.

A representative of the Pastors' company of New York, builders of chimneys, which has a job in South Lowell, was present at the meeting, looking for journeymen, but inquiry showed that every member of the union is working. Local master builders are also looking for journeymen, giving the local men the preference but are unable to find them.

The meeting was presided over by Frank J. Warren, president of the local union, and John B. Reardon, acting secretary. The principal business was to discuss plans for the state conference of the craft which is to be held in this city in March, beginning on the second Tuesday and lasting three days. At the last conference, held in Holyoke, the local delegates carrying out the request of the board of trade, that all organizations try to get conventions to Lowell for the purpose of booming the city put up a fight to get the conference here and were successful, and the members were most enthusiastic over the matter at last evening's meeting and voted a personal commitment to provide for the entertainment of the visiting delegates. There will be about 150 regularly elected delegates to the conference and

Entirely Cured. Interesting Case.

W. B. Burch, Bingham, Pa., writes: "I was in a terribly run-down condition, my lungs were weak and sore, and I had a dull, heavy pain between the shoulders. I lost flesh very rapidly, and feared I was going into consumption. After taking four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla I was entirely cured and never felt better."

In cases where a strengthening, toning, blood-purifying medicine is needed, Hood's Sarsaparilla has effected thousands of cures.

MURDER CHARGE

Against Crawford Was Dismissed

BEATYVILLE, Ky., Nov. 17.—Charges of murder against Clay Crawford, nephew of the late Judge James Hargis of Breathitt county, were dismissed by the commonwealth's attorney here today after a jury had been sworn to try Crawford and Editha Johnson for the killing of Miles Crawford, the former's cousin, during a fight over an alleged illicit distillery.

The trial of Johnson proceeded. Crawford's brother, Matthew, was assassinated by Charles Little at Jackson, Ky., two weeks ago. Little subsequently confessing to the crime and being sentenced to death.

$20,000 DAMAGE

Firemen Overcome at a Blaze in Boston

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—Five firemen were practically overcome by smoke and a loss of $20,000 was caused by a fire in the sugar-bag factory of Morse & Co., West First street, South Boston today. The fire started in the drying room and is believed to have been caused by some of the bagging coming in contact with overheated drying apparatus.

YOUNG PATIENTS

Removed to Chelmsford St. Hospital

The youngest tubercular suspects that the Lowell board of health has ever had to deal with are being cared for, temporarily, at the Chelmsford Street hospital. The two suspects are sisters, aged 12 and 14 years, respectively.

The little sisters had been at the Ayer home for some time and the doctors who examined them, while they were not positive that the children were victims of the white plague, believed that the symptoms were such as to make it advisable to remove them from the home, and company of children with whom they came in contact.

The mother of the Ayer home notified Agent Bates of the board of health and the board was in a quandary as to what disposition to make of them. The board had never had such young suspects on its hands before, and after looking about for a way out of its dilemma, asked Supt. Conley of the Chelmsford Street hospital if he would find a place for them where they could remain for a time, under observation.

There isn't any place at the Chelmsford Street hospital for such cases, but in order to relieve the situation, Mr. Conley, after consulting the board of health, decided to take them until the necessary observations have been completed. The children were taken to the hospital and assigned a room apart from other patients.

If the doctors finally decide that the children have tuberculosis, arrangements will be made to have them removed to Rutland or some other place where such cases are attended to and where they will receive the proper care.

The father of the little girls died some time ago and their mother, a hard working and industrious woman, has been paying the way at the Ayer home. The children were born in Nova Scotia, but obtained a settlement in Lowell through their mother.

COL. ROOSEVELT

REFUSES TO TALK ABOUT THE ELECTION

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—"Not a word, not a word," said Colonel Roosevelt in answer to a question as to what he thought of the recent election when he returned to his magazine labors today for the first time since Nov. 8.

"They are saying you 'can't come back,'" ventured a scribe.

"Not a word," repeated the colonel as he bounded out of his automobile which brought him in from Oyster Bay and hurried into his office.

CHANTECLEER PARTY

A very pleasant social was given by the Chanteleer girls at the home of Miss St. Mars, 9 Lane street. The house was tastefully decorated in Chanteleer color. During the evening, music was enjoyed and among the many musical numbers was a selection by the Chanteleer quartet, consisting of the Misses Grace McCaffrey, Anna Latham, Ulana St. Mars, Lena Lamer. The pianist of the evening was Mrs. John Breddick. Later in the evening refreshments were served.

JAMESTOWN RACES

BANDITS TESTIFY HELD ON SUSPICION

They Say Dead Companion Killed Two Lynn Men

SALEM, Nov. 17.—The defendant's version of the cause of the death of Thomas Landregan and James Carroll, killed at Lynn in June last, was given in the superior court here today when Waskill Ivankowski, one of the two men on trial for the murder of the two men, took the stand in his own defense. He followed the other defendant, Andrei Ipsen, whose cross examination was ended today. The cross examination of Ivankowski had just begun when the noon adjournment was taken. It is believed that the testimony will be finished, both arguments made and the case given to the jury by the time of the evening adjournment.

Ivankowski's story of the "happening," as he persisted in calling the murder, was substantially the same as that told by his companion, which was to the effect that the victims of the tragedy were killed by "Joe," the name by which the third member of the trio of robbers was known. "Joe" was killed, either by his own hand or by one of the pursuing policemen on the day of the murder.

"On the day of the happening," said the witness, "I was in Lynn looking for work, and 'Joe' and Ipsen were with me. We had stopped on the street to smoke when two men passed by. 'Joe' said to Ipsen and me, 'You wait here for me.' In a short time I heard a shot

HARVARD AND YALE

Begin Final Preparations for the Battle Next Saturday

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 17.—The Yale and Harvard eleven began today putting the finishing touches on their preparation for the battle at Yale field Saturday. Both teams had light work at the field this afternoon.

The Harvard squad, numbering 24 men, which reached Farmington late yesterday, left their quarters here during this forenoon for New Haven, arriving here shortly before noon. After lunching at the Yale dining hall the men were taken to Yale field and for an hour given a workout, including drill in the rudiments of football, and later signal practice. From present indications it was stated that the Harvard backfield will probably be Wigglesworth at quarter, Corbett at half, Ted Frothingham at right half, and Leslie or Morrison at fullback.

The Yale eleven took the field after the Cambridge men and ran through a long signal drill, the work being done behind closed gates.

GREAT CROWD EXPECTED

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 17.—Preparations for receiving and preparing for the crowd which will come to Saturday's Yale-Harvard football game are now well under way and they interest New Haven people more than ever before. So few people outside college circles here have tickets to the game that the only excitement they will experience will come from watching the crowd arrive and depart. The New Haven road is providing trackage for 18 special trains from New York alone, while it will come from the east. Among the football parties will be those of J. P. Morgan, W. K. Vanderbilt, George W. Perkins, Judge E. H. Gary, Harry Payne Whitney, Mrs. E. H. Harriman and Harry J. Black. As probably twenty thousand people will arrive by train between 11 a. m. and 1 p. m., accommodations will have to be provided for housing them quickly at the station. Trolley cars composing a belt of 150 will run direct to Yale field, but even these will hardly carry half the people. The spectacular side of the crowd will be in its grand march through the city's streets and out to the field, a long line of bright and animated color.

Everard Thompson of the Yale ticket management was in Cambridge yesterday to confer with the Harvard

LIBERAL LEADERS

Have Been Expelled From Nicaragua

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The liberal leaders alleged to be responsible for the anti-American riots at Leon, Nicaragua, today were expelled from that country by President Estrada, according to a telegram received by the state department from Thomas Moffatt, United States consul at Bluefields.

The names of the men expelled are Gomez, Barreto, Zeledon and Maldonado. Zelazo, the consul says, owns or edits newspapers which have violated public decency, provoked disorder and have been directly responsible for the anti-American riots at Leon.

General Estrada, the consul reports, has announced his determination to act as strongly as conditions may require in maintaining order and to forbid the publication of misrepresentations tending to foment trouble and incite disorder.

ATTORNEY WISE

DETERMINED TO RECOVER MONEY FOR THE GOVERNMENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—United States Attorney Wise is seemingly determined to recover for the government all the money it is claimed to have been defrauded out of during the past five years by means of alleged false invoices for importations made by Joseph Brooke & Co., manufacturers of Bradford, England, and this city. Assistant District Attorney Whitney said today:

"This is the biggest case of its kind the government has ever had. The frauds involve several woolen manufacturing firms in England. The total amount of duties which the government has lost through these importation frauds is much greater than in the sugar underweighting cases."

Two Young Men Detained by the Local Police

Two young men who were neatly attired and apparently from out of town, were placed under arrest this afternoon by Inspectors Martin Maher and John Walsh on suspicion of larceny or attempted larceny. The men were brought to the police station where they were put through the "third degree." At the time of going to press the identity of the suspects was unknown, the police refusing to divulge their names or the charges that would be preferred against them.

It is alleged that they entered the Talbot Clothing Co.'s store in Central street. It is said that one of the young men carried a traveling bag and both acted in a suspicious manner.

They asked to be shown clothing and when Martin Kirkeby, one of the clerks, noticed their peculiar actions he called the attention of the manager to them. In the meantime the latter made their departure.

The police was notified and Inspectors Maher and Walsh were detailed to look for the men. They succeeded in finding the strangers in another clothing store and arrested them.

When brought to the police station the suspects were put through a rigid examination.

HEINZE CO.'S PLANT

May be Moved From This City to Detroit

If Congressman Butler Ames can succeed in interesting sufficient Detroit capital to place the control of the Heinze Electric company in that city he will move the plant to Detroit. The Heinze Electric company is located in Lawrence street in the yard of the United States Cartridge company. John O. Heinze, Jr., is general manager.

It was at a dinner given by the Detroit board of commissioners, that Butler Ames made known his intention to move the Lowell industry to that city. The dinner was in honor of Ambassador Thomas J. O'Brien of Japan and Mr. Ames was one of the speakers.

Mr. Ames was introduced as an ex-congressman, but he came back with a denial, saying that he is still in the service. He said, however, the Massachusetts republicans had hard going in the recent campaign, but a few of them are still on top.

"I am a manufacturer," he continued, "and notwithstanding speeches made in congress and stories in the press about the dividends made by New England manufacturers, it is a fact that the actual dividends on the capital invested amount to little more than 6 per cent."

"Now England people have heard about what you call the gasoline aristocracy out here and of the millions that have been made in automobiles and auto accessories, and I came out here three days after election to see if I couldn't get on in the killing. I am a manufacturer of automobile accessories and I came here to make arrangements to move my plant bodily into your community."

The Heinze Electric company has been doing business in Lowell for the last six years or more. When running full the company employs about 250 hands, mostly skilled labor. John A. McKenna is secretary. Mr. McKenna was formerly secretary of the Lowell board of trade.

HAD A REVOLVER

Aged Man Seized in Court Room

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 17.—There was a somewhat exciting interlude today on the hearing on the mental condition of Mrs. Caroline B. Martin, when a man about 70 years old, whose peculiar conduct excited the suspicion of the attendants, was seized by them. A fully loaded 44 calibre revolver was found in his pockets. His name was said by the police to be Oliver B. Matthews, originally of South Carolina, now of Newark. Court officers learned, they said, that he had been for some time an inmate of the Overbrook insane asylum and had been paroled. He will be returned to the institution.

The man had asked for Mrs. Martin, who is one of the surviving sisters indicted for the alleged murder of Orey Snead, the East Orange bath victim and brought a bouquet of roses and carnations, which he said he wished to present to her.

If there was any such delay in the south as there has been in this state," he declared, "both the judges and lawyers would be shot." It was this remark which led the court officers to suspect the aged man's mental soundness and led them to seize him. Some attorneys disclaimed any intention of using the revolver and said he did not even know he had it with him.

The fatal drug was given to five patients and they were made ill. Two men died.

MUNICIPAL LEAGUE

Plans to Stop Graft Were Under Discussion

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 17.—The word "graft" was heard many times at yesterday's session of the 16th annual meeting of the National municipal league and 18th national convention for good city government. Methods proposed to circumvent the grafter and to provide a system of government that will leave him no place in the public service made the sessions the most interesting of this year's series.

Dr. Leonard F. Fuld, examiner for the municipal civil service commission of New York, spoke on "The Police Problem." He said that while the administration of the police department in the average American city was not perfect, it was also true that policemen were the victims of too much criticism. He had found a large proportion of police officers conscientious in the performance of their duties. The police officer, he said, is the victim in many instances, of a political system which ties his hands. Dr. Fuld favored the single-headed department rather than the antiquated board system.

"The Grafters at Work in American Cities" was the subject of a paper by Harold J. Howland of New York. John Martin of the New York board of education spoke on the "Uncleaned Increment in Municipalities."

The general subject of "City Finances, Budgets and Statistics" was considered in several papers. Dr. William F. Willoughby of the U. S. census bureau discussed the necessity of correlation of the financial and physical statistics of cities.

The work of the Chicago commission on city expenditures was reviewed by Prof. Charles L. Merriam of the university of Chicago.

Charles F. Gettemy, director of the Massachusetts state bureau of statistics, described the increasingly successful work of his department in standardizing municipal accounts and statistics in that state.

"Corrupt Practices in Municipalities" was a topic exhaustively considered. "Take away the probability of concealment and few men have the courage to defraud their fellows, or violate the law," said Dr. William Allen, secretary of the New York bureau of municipal research in outlining methods of "overhauling the grafter by municipal accounting."

Mr. Gettemy, in his address, said: "A single list made from Massachusetts experience will illustrate the significance and potentiality of what may be called the statistical point of view in treating the subject of municipal finances. This is the

THE VALUE OF PROPRIETARY MEDICINES

Is proven by the very large percentage of physicians' prescriptions for some remedies found in every drug store in America, but as they are written in Latin, few patients realize this fact.

The old standard proprietary medicines like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that have stood the test of time, deserve a place in every family medicine chest, and it is most certain they would not be prescribed by physicians if they were able to devise a formula equally as efficacious.

disclosure of the misleading character of the debt statements of our municipalities when based, as they are quite likely to be, upon the narrow definition of 'net indebtedness' laid down by Massachusetts law.

"The general statutory authority for the incurring of debts by cities and towns in Massachusetts limits the amount to which a city may become indebted to 2½ per cent. on the average of the assessors' valuations of the taxable property therein for the three preceding years, the valuation of each year being first reduced by the amount of all abatements allowed thereon previous to the last day of December in the year preceding said assessment; and it is provided that a town shall not become indebted in an amount exceeding 3 per cent. of the last preceding valuation for the assessment of the taxable property therein. This is what is commonly called the 'debt limit' and the theory of the law was, of course, that the cities and towns of the commonwealth required some such salutary check upon their borrowing propensities.

"But the law recognized certain forms of debt, which it specified should be excluded by reckoning the debt limit, such as water debt, debt incurred for municipal lighting purposes to an amount not exceeding in a town 5 per cent and in a city not exceeding 2½ per cent of the last preceding valuation, temporary tax loans and temporary loans for grade crossing abolition purposes.

"And from time to time a sympathetic legislature has hearkened to appeals of cities and towns for exemption, for some special reason, from the operation of the general law, and has granted permission to borrow 'outside the debt limit' for purposes which it was the intent of the statute should be provided for within the debt limit.

"Now it is rudimentary to say that the net debt of a municipality is found by deducting from the total funded or fixed debt the amount which has been set aside for sinking funds to pay the debt when due; and it is hardly necessary to indicate that funded or fixed debt does not include tax loans, temporary grade crossing loans or outstanding warrants or orders, since such obligations are presumably offset by assets—that is, tax loans by uncollected taxes, temporary grade crossing loans by revenue due from the commonwealth or corporations, and warrants or orders by cash on hand.

"But the statutory definition of 'net debt' in Massachusetts is not so simple. Within the meaning of our law the term 'net indebtedness' includes the indebtedness of a county, city, town or district, omitting debts created for supplying the inhabitants with water and other debts exempted from the operation of the law limiting their indebtedness and deducting the amount of sinking funds available for the payment of the 'indebtedness included.'"

"It will thus be noted that the statutory net debt in Massachusetts is quite different from the real net debt, since in determining the former the funded or fixed debt from which the sinking funds must be subtracted does not take into account either funded water debt or, under certain circumstances, a portion of municipal lighting debt, nor indeed any other loans that may be specially exempted from time to time by the legislature from the debt limit law.

"It is, therefore, obvious that a statement of net debt which is confined to a figure which includes only those obligations embraced within the scope of the so-called 'net indebtedness,' as narrowly defined by the statute, excluding as it does such an important single item of funded debt as water debt, can hardly be said to tell the whole story of the debt burden."

SCARLET FEVER

A Number of Cases Reported

For contagious diseases scarlet fever holds the boards in Lowell at the present time. 25 cases having been reported at the office of the board of health. In his talk before the men of St. John's parish last night Dr. Martin, chairman of the board of health, said: "Scarlet fever is dangerous. The average patient is sick only three or four days. Then comes the period of peeling, which lasts four or five weeks. Dainty little scrub which comes from the patient carries contagion with it." The health authorities, however, claim that 25 cases is not an unusual number for this time of year.

ATTEMPT TO MURDER

Charged Against Man Held on Woman's Evidence

YORK HARBOR, Me., Nov. 17.—Geo. E. Goodwin, aged 21, a resident of the Chase pond district, was arraigned yesterday afternoon before Trial Justice William C. Hildreth, charged with attempt to murder Mrs. Laura Brierly.

Owing to the condition of his victim, who was unable to be present, Goodwin's case was continued until Nov. 23 without bail.

The story told by Mrs. Brierly is that, accompanied by her 3-year-old daughter, she went out to feed the pigs kept in a pen some distance from the house. While she was thus engaged Goodwin, who lives nearby, came up behind her, she says, and asked: "Where are the little devils?" She, supposing he meant the pigs, replied, "In the pen."

Without more ado, Mrs. Brierly charges, he picked up a four-foot nail and struck her six or seven blows on her head, making bad gashes. After the woman had fallen unconscious, she says, he left his victim.

The little girl, who had been a witness of the alleged attack, was too terrified to remonstrate, but afterward busied herself in trying to arouse her mother. After some time the woman regained consciousness and, aided by the child, succeeded in reaching her home.

Dr. Smith was called and dressed the wounds, being obliged to take five or six stitches in several of them. While the doctor dressed the wounds her alleged assailant held a lamp so that he could see to do his work.

On the return home of the woman's husband, Deputy Sheriff Bradford Woodward was notified and Goodwin was arrested.

At the hearing County Attorney Asa Richardson of Kennebunkport represented the state. Goodwin pleaded not guilty.

BANK OFFICIAL

Held on a Charge of Forgery

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—"I wanted the money only for a few days," Chas. Belling, third vice president of the Bronx National bank, was frequently heard to say during the night as he paced up and down the Tombs prison cell, in which he was lodged when arrested late yesterday, charged with forging a certificate of stock in the bank and obtaining a $3000 loan from the Knickerbocker Trust company on this as security. "This is what I get for trying to be a 'good fellow'—for trying to help a friend for a short time," was one of the remarks Belling's custodian reported him to have made during his sleepless night in the prison. Although a score or more of friends called at the Tombs in the course of the night no one was allowed to see him. Some of them announced that they would be forthcoming for the prisoner when he was arraigned in court today.

Says That United States Will Not Annex Panama

PANAMA, Nov. 17.—President Taft last night effectually disposed of the report that the United States was likely to annex Panama. At a dinner given in his honor by President Arosemena and attended by two hundred prominent officials, diplomats and merchants, President Taft aroused the greatest enthusiasm when he declared that the American people would feel dishonored in annexing Panama, unless some conduct by the Panama people left no other course.

This contingency, Mr. Taft was sure, would never arise.

The president reached Panama at 6:30 o'clock last evening from Culebra, after spending an interesting day in

WHY SALVES FAIL TO CURE ECZEMA

Scientists are now agreed that the eczema germs are lodged not in the outer skin or epidermis, but in the inner skin. Hence, a penetrating liquid is required, not an outward salve that clogs the pores.

We recommend to all eczema patients the standard prescription Oil of Vintgreen as compounded in liquid form known as D. D. D. Prescription. A trial bottle of this D. D. D. Prescription at only 35 cents, will instantly relieve the itch. We have sold and recommended this remedy for years, and know of wonderful cures from its use. We recommend it to our patrons.

Talking about work, my special work is supplying the people of Lowell with the choicest products of mine and forest. Buying my coal at the mouth of the mines, from the best collieries in Pennsylvania, that means the best in the world. Buying my wood standing in the trees, hiring my own choppers. I don't want you to class me as a middle man or a retailer. I am simply your agent. I get a little better than living out of a life's experience and life's savings. have found a common cause in the construction of the Panama canal. The treaty between the two countries makes the United States the guarantor of the integrity of the Panama republic and therefore in a sense the guardian of the liberties of that people secured by its constitution. Our responsibility, therefore, for your government requires us closely to observe the course of conduct by those selected as the officials of your government, after they are selected, and to insist that they be selected according to law.

"All this makes us especially interested in what is done in your government, but this relation neither calls for nor permits annexation. We are here to construct, maintain, operate and defend the world canal which runs through the heart of your country and you have given us the necessary sovereignty and jurisdiction over that part of your country occupied by the canal to enable us to do this effectively. We do not wish any further responsibility in respect to your government than is necessary in the carrying out of our purpose to construct and maintain this canal. We have no desire to add to the territory under our jurisdiction except as the operation of the canal may require it.

"We have guaranteed your integrity as a republic, and for us to annex territory would be to violate that guarantee, and nothing would justify it on our part so long as Panama performed her part under the treaty.

"I wish to make this statement as emphatic as possible, because irresponsible persons without the slightest foundation in fact, have started a rumor that my visit to the Isthmus is for the purpose of promoting annexation when nothing could be further from the truth. Panama cannot be too prosperous, too healthy, too strong a government for the United States, and I know I speak the unanimous voice of the people of the United States when I say that they would be most reluctant to have to take over the canal zone and would feel utterly dishonored in so doing unless there was some conduct on the part of the Panamanian people which left them no other possible course.

"I am glad to say that there is not the slightest indication or probability that the Panamanian people will ever pursue a policy which would require such a change in the present most satisfactory relations between the two republics."

CITY'S HEALTH

Dr. Martin Tells How It Is Promoted

Rev. James Bancroft, rector, presided at the first gathering of the men of St. John's parish in the audience rooms of the church last night. Rev. Mr. Bancroft said he had arranged for the meeting for two reasons. First, that the men might meet each other and become better acquainted; and, second, that they might learn something about the city they live in.

Dr. G. Forrest Martin, chairman of the board of health, was introduced and spoke on the work and problems of the board. He said in part:

"The present board of health is endeavoring to do something. There have been no differences of opinion among its members; we have all been united in trying to be progressive and accomplish something worth while. Our one end and aim has been to give absolute justice to every man who comes before us with a complaint.

"There are many ramifications to the work of the board of health. There are 105,000 inhabitants in this city and its health for 365 days. This department pays the wages of 30 men. It has a corps of ten which collects all ashes from fires of private houses and disposes of them. This department collects all garbage and swill. Such work is, strictly speaking, not health work, only on the broad ground that keeping clean is the first law of health. Lowell is today a cleaner city than I have ever seen."

"We haven't succeeded in doing what we set out to do, by any means, but results have gratified us nevertheless. Tuberculosis has given the greatest concern. It is the great problem of the country today.

"The white plague, I am happy to say, is certainly yielding to modern methods of sanitation. It seemed wise, two years ago, to attend to this problem, by looking into its feeding grounds. We felt that the disease was due to unsanitary, filthy tenements in which people were housed, in a large measure. We instructed the office force of the health board to get reports of deaths from the disease for the past five years and to mark on a map, with a blue dot, where each death from tuberculosis had occurred.

"One tenement house, not a stone's throw from this church, in five years had members in four families die. Each death was from tuberculosis. That tenement was a tubercular incubator. When the disease first appeared the patient was lax, and probably spitting about caused the germs to settle. When the first family moved out the landlord couldn't afford to clean things up as they should be and a second family moved in and one member contracted the disease. The virus of tuberculosis is a persistent poison, under certain conditions."

Dr. Martin said that the principal work of the health board concerns contagious diseases, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, smallpox and infantile paralysis.

Speaking of the city's milk supply, he said: "Lowell has shown but little improvement in the quality of its milk supply until recently. There have been 21 epidemics of disease in Massachusetts in recent years, due largely to the carrying power of milk.

"The citizens of Lowell want clean milk; they will get it. If the work of the board of health has enlightened public sentiment back of it then that work will not fail. If a man knows that you want clean milk he will give it to you, because he's in business to supply what his customers want when he knows that they know what they want."

ANNUAL MEETING BANKER'S WIDOW

Of Baptist Social Union Asks Big Allowance for Her Daughter

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Mrs. Emily Ladenburg, widow of Adolph Ladenburg, the banker, and one of the most noted housewives in the Meadowbrook colony, applied to the courts yesterday for an allowance of from $10,000 to $17,000 a year to complete the education of her 16-year-old daughter in Europe. Decision was reserved.

According to the application made by Mrs. Ladenburg to Surrogate Jackson, a young woman who has been brought up in the Meadowbrook colony, set as her daughter, Eugenia Marie, cannot be properly "finished" abroad except by an outlay of thousands of dollars annually.

Two, three or even four years abroad are usually considered necessary for the "finishing" process. This means an establishment in Paris and perhaps one in London also. It means music, painting, dancing under the tuition of the best and most expensive teachers obtainable. It means the acquisition of French and other modern languages. It means riding, driving and swimming lessons, gymnasium instruction and a thousand and one other accomplishments.

Then there is the cost of a wardrobe, gowns for morning, afternoon and evening. There are riding habits and horses, and other horses for driving and harnesses and carriages. Then the grand tour, so the "bud" may be able to talk intelligently of all the well known places, at least, on the continent.

Then there is the outfit for the debut, and Paris dressmakers patronized by wealthy Americans are not noted for moderate charges.

Mrs. Ladenburg's estimate, compared with the allowances for other daughters of the rich, seems even modest.

Man Charged With Exceeding Auto Speed Limit

Robert I. McAllister, chauffeur for Asa C. Russell, was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with a violation of the automobile law. Victor H. J. Belle Isle, monument worker and constable, claimed that the defendant was operating a motor car in the vicinity of Central and Merrimack streets last Friday afternoon at a rate of speed which was in excess of that provided by law. McAllister denied that he was going more than eight miles an hour until he found that a collision was imminent unless he increased speed, and placing his foot on the accelerator he caused the car to shoot forward and escape colliding with Belle Isle's machine.

The court, after considering the evidence in the case, found the defendant technically guilty and ordered a case placed on file. James Stuart Murphy appeared for the complainant and John C. Legat for the defendant. The first witness for the defense was the complainant, Victor H. J. Belle Isle, who testified that last Friday afternoon about 4:45 o'clock he was driving his machine through Merrimack street and was about to turn to the right into Central street when he saw the car driven by McAllister coming through Central street at a rate of about 25 miles an hour. In order to prevent a collision, witness said he had to stall his engine and that the defendant without reducing speed shot by and escaped striking his car by a margin of about a foot.

Frank J. Jones, who said he was standing at the corner of Central and Merrimack streets on the afternoon in question, testified that the machine driven by Mr. McAllister was traveling at a rate of speed between 20 and 25 miles an hour. He was unable to read the number on the rear of the car because of the speed at which it was going.

The defendant, Mr. McAllister, explained to the court that he was driving through Central street at a rate of speed less than eight miles an hour. When he reached a point just beyond Middle street he found that there were two electric cars stopped while on the right hand side of the street were two vehicles and knowing it would be impossible to pass on the right hand side of the street he turned his machine over to the left side. Just before reaching the corner of Merrimack street he noticed the Belle Isle machine approaching and in order to avoid a collision he placed his foot on the accelerator which caused his machine to jump forward. As soon as he passed the Belle Isle car, witness said that he removed his foot from the accelerator and the speed of the machine dropped down to about eight miles an hour.

The court found the defendant technically guilty and ordered the case placed on file.

Stole Pair of Rubbers

Charles Belanger admitted that he had been drunk, but denied that he had stolen a pair of rubbers from the store in Middlesex street. The court, however, after listening to the testimony of the government witnesses found that Belanger was guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $15.

Zeelin said that Belanger and another man entered his place of business yesterday afternoon and while he was waiting on Belanger's companion Belanger kept walking around the store. After the pair left the store Zeelin found that two rubbers, one for a man and the other for a woman, were missing. He notified Inspector Martin A. Maher, who was in the vicinity, and later Inspector Maher arrested Belanger in Middlesex street and upon searching him found the rubbers in his pockets.

Belanger said that he had been drinking, but denied he had entered Zeelin's store, his only explanation of the finding of the rubbers on his person being that his friend must have placed them in his pocket.

Drunken Offenders

Louis P. Caron, charged with drunkenness, was sentenced to the state farm after Patrolman John H. Clark had testified as to the manner in which he had been conducting himself.

William L. Ferris was given a sentence of four months in jail and Mary McGovern was given a suspended sentence of four months in jail. There was one first offender who was fined $2.

Non Support

Frank E. Harraice entered a plea of guilty on a complaint charging him with non-support of his wife. He was ordered to contribute $7 a week.

BIG STEAMSHIPS

In Collision in New York Harbor

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The big French liner Lorraine had a close call in her side today in a collision with the North German Lloyd liner Prinz Frederick Wilhelm in the Hudson river as both steamships were swinging away from their piers to head away for Europe.

The two liners immediately returned to their berths where examinations were made by the officers to ascertain if any serious damage had been sustained. There was much excitement among the passengers on board but no serious damage was done.

The steamships will probably sail for Europe later in the day. The piers of the two companies are on opposite sides of the river and the sailing time of the two steamships brought them out from their docks within a minute or two of each other.

STOCK MARKET

HEAVY AND LIFELESS AT THE CLOSE TODAY

Prices Went Down But the Decline Was Checked—Demand for Stocks Was Not Great

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Opening prices of stocks declined somewhat precipitately for the most active issues on light dealings, while there was a sprinkling of gains in stocks of minor importance. Thirty-five hundred shares of U. P. sold at 177 1/2 and 177, compared with 178 1/2 last night. Great Northern pfd. and Sears Roebuck declined 1 1/2. Interboro Met. pfd. 1 1/2. St. Paul 1 1/4. Amal. Copper and American Smelting 1 and Northern Pacific, So. Pacific, New York Central, Reading and U. S. Steel large fractions. Pacific Telephone advanced a point and Kansas & Texas 4.

Stocks were liquidated at a lively rate for a time, the selling showing much urgency in spots. Great Northern pfd. broke 3 points. U. P. 2 1/4. N. Y. Central, S. P. and U. S. Ex. 2. St. Paul 1 1/4. Reading and Northern Pacific 1 1/2. U. S. Steel 1 1/2 and the list generally a point. Buying orders were distributed when the decline became serious and there were recoveries of about a point in the stocks that had become weakest.

The dealings at noon lapsed into dullness. Federal Mining pfd. rose 2 1/2 and Amal. Copper declined 2 1/2. Bonds were irregular.

While the undertone of the market was better, there was no demand of consequence, prices ruling a fraction above the low figures of the morning.

The speculation came practically to a halt, but there was a slightly better range of prices. Gt. Northern Oregon cfs. advanced a point.

The market closed heavy and lifeless. Prices ran off in the afternoon, but the demand was exceedingly languid at prices above the lowest.

MISS MORRILL HURT

MISS STELLA MORRILL, THROWN FROM A CARRIAGE AND SERIOUSLY INJURED

Her Skull Fractured in a Runaway Accident

Miss Stella Morrill, bookkeeper at the Lowell Coach Co. in Middlesex street and residing in Tewksbury, is lying at St. John's hospital suffering from a bad fracture at the base of the skull and numerous bruises about the head and body.

She was riding in a coupe last night when the accident happened and, fearing that the horse was running away, she jumped from the carriage. She was taken to St. John's hospital in the ambulance and, with the exception of a few moments now and then, she has since been unconscious.

Miss Morrill was on her way from the stable in Middlesex street to Merrimack square when the accident happened. She was riding through after midnight street when the horse became frightened and started to run at a rapid rate of speed. Miss Morrill, fearing a smashup, opened the door and when the carriage reached Tower's corner she either jumped or fell out. She struck on her head on the pavement and was rendered unconscious.

The ambulance was summoned and she was removed to St. John's hospital where an examination showed that she was suffering from a fracture at the base of the skull as well as other injuries about the head and body.

Everything possible in the way of medical and surgical aid was done to relieve her, but at the time of going to press the hospital authorities did not entertain much hope for her recovery.

A LADIES' NIGHT

Observed by the Washington Club

Although enjoying an enviable reputation for hospitality the Washington club broke its previous records last night when it held "an evening" in honor of its lady friends. The apartments of the club in Prescott street were most attractively decorated in greenery relieved by streamers of red ribbon and red shaded lights that gave a warm and cheery glow to the interior. The large parlors were utilized as a dance hall and the Middlesex orchestra furnished music throughout the evening. The numerous side rooms were transformed into dainty boudoirs for rest and social chat while the large dining room with bountiful laden tables contributed to the well filled larder of the club's cuisine and amplified for the occasion by the Page company was a delightful attraction in itself. In the early evening a reception was held by President and Mrs. John J. Hogan at which the guests were made acquainted with each other, after which the evening's festivities were delightfully informal. While dancing engaged the attention of the guests the greater part of the evening during an intermission a most acceptable entertainment was provided by Shriners and Wills, "Those College Boys" who went direct to the club from the Hathaway theatre with their costumes and make-up on. The affair which was one of the most enjoyable in the history of the club came to an end at midnight and President Hogan and his committee on arrangements were warmly congratulated on their evident ability to "do things up finely."

There were guests from other cities including Mr. and Mrs. William J. Kelly of Boston, the Russes, Julia N. and Helen R. Collins of Lawrence and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Downing of Dorchester.

The committee having charge of the occasion included President John J. Hogan, Dr. William T. Carolyn, Daniel F. Carroll, John J. Sullivan, William C. Purcell, Charles L. Marron and Dr. William M. Collins.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION

BALTIMORE, Nov. 17.—That the National Women's Christian Temperance Union is steadily gaining recruits in its campaign against wearing birds on their plumage on hats was reported by the Morcy department of the union at today's session of the annual convention. In her report on "Physical education," Mrs. Frances White Letter of Ohio asserted that only one half of the cities of this country were enforcing the health laws properly.

TRAIN DITCHED

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 17.—The westbound Overland express on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad is reported ditched near Bluewater, N. M., about 300 miles west of here. Railroad officials say no one was hurt but the trainmaster, O. F. Higginson, has left for the scene on a special train.

ARTIST LAFARGE BURIED

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The funeral of John Lafarge, the artist, who died recently in Providence, was held in the church of St. Francis Xavier today and was attended by artists, painters and sculptors and men prominent in every walk of life. Delegates from the many clubs and societies of which Mr. Lafarge was a member were present at the service, which were conducted by Father John Lafarge, son of the dead artist.

FIGHT ON RULES

Insurgents Won Only Part of Their Demands

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—No matter what Champ Clark, the prospective speaker of the next house, may or may not want, it is quite certain that there will be another conflict on the rules when the house reassembles and the fight may even come with the reassembling of congress for the short session a couple of weeks hence.

At the last session a change in the rules was made because of a coalition between the republican and democratic insurgents, and the same combination, both in this house and the next, may be able to override the more conservative element in the same way that Speaker Cannon and his supporters were placed in a minority.

In the last session the speaker was deprived of a great deal of his power by being removed from the committee on rules, but that was only half of what the insurgents wanted. They wanted the committees to be appointed, not by the speaker but by the committee or committees elected by the house, so that it would be impossible for the speaker to control the legislation by making up the committees for or against any measure.

That is the way committees are made up in the senate. The vice president, who is the presiding officer of the senate, does not make up the committees, but a committee on committees is appointed from the majority senators and they select the men to fill the vacancies.

In this house committees are appointed with the incoming of every congress, but as the senate is a continuing body, and is always organized, it is only necessary for the committee on committees to fill the vacancies caused by death or the retirement of members.

The house adopts the same plan the speaker will exercise no power but the vice president, except that the speaker as a member of the house has the right to vote and to speak on any measure, just like any other member. The vice president, of course, cannot take part in the debate, because he is permitted to vote only when it is necessary to break a tie.

Representative Norris of Nebraska, the leader of the republican insurgents in the last house, will renew the fight, according to word that has been brought to Washington, at the coming session if an opportunity can be found, and certainly when the new congress

assembles. Mr. Norris is a republican and sees no reason why the power that was sought to be taken from a republican speaker should be left to a democrat.

Some of the democrats are not so anxious to see the speaker shorn of his power as they were when they were in the minority. In the last session Mr. Clark was quite as much an insurgent on the rules as were Norris and Murdock of Kansas, and Mr. Gardner, but now Mr. Clark is moving cautiously.

He prefers to "keep an open mind," because whatever he says may hurt his prospective candidacy. If he comes out in favor of the old rules he may lose the support of insurgent democrats, and if he shows himself too radical the conservatives may be induced to throw their strength to another candidate.

A democratic caucus will have to be held to determine the action of the democrats. Such strong men as Henry of Virginia, Henry of Texas and others are outspoken in favor of a radical change in the rules, and it will require a good deal of skill and diplomacy to harmonize the conflicting opinions.

Representative Burgess of Texas has a scheme for making a horizontal reduction in the tariff on many manufactured articles and keeping a revenue tariff on all raw materials.

"I think the democratic house should reduce the duty on iron and steel, wool and cotton and other manufactured articles at least ten per cent," said Mr. Burgess yesterday. "The duties on those articles are entirely too high, and I hope the democratic house will pass bills reducing them."

"The republicans last year tried to play politics by removing the duty from hides and other articles. The price of hides did not drop and the treasury lost all revenue from hides. I favor a revenue tariff on lumber, hides and other raw materials. I think the democrats should pass bills revising separate schedules of the tariff."

Mr. Burgess favors the appointment of committees by the speaker.

POPULATION OF SAN FRANCISCO

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The population of San Francisco is 416,012, according to the statistics of the 13th census, made public last night. This is an increase of 74,130, or 21.5 per cent, over 342,782 in 1900.

Health and Beauty Helps

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

Hester: You say you are taking on flesh at a rate that dismays you, and will faithfully follow my advice if I tell you how to secure stylish slenderness. I am glad to say you will find my directions difficult to follow, but believe in starving or violent exercise to avoid obesity. Just get four ounces of paraffin from your druggist, dissolve it in 1½ pints hot water, and take a teaspoonful of this harmless fat dissolver before each meal. Weigh yourself at the end of each week for four weeks and you will be delighted with the result. You will be lighter in April as well as in body, for paraffin benefits the general health.

Mrs. R.: To allay and soothe the irritation caused by hard water, sunburn, chapped skin, or any other skin troubles, dissolve four ounces of spiramine in a pint of hot water, and add two teaspoonfuls of glycerine. Apply with the palm of the hand and gently rub until dry. Use this inexpensive but excellent face wash before each application of powder or cosmetic. Spiramine preserves the skin and beautifies the complexion, making it soft, smooth and white.

M. S.: I do not think brunettes are afflicted with superfluous hairs on the face any more than blondes. Of course, black, or dark hairs are more noticeable. You can easily get rid of them if you will use delatone. Make a paste by mixing a little of the powder with water, cover the skin with the paste, then wash off with warm water. Delatone is a powerful depilatory, and it is worth it. It is a hair remover, and it is worth it. It is a hair remover, and it is worth it. It is a hair remover, and it is worth it.

Caroline: To secure well-rounded curves you must assimilate the food you eat; have good digestion and good circulation. I would advise you to take egg-o-lene compound tablets, for they will help not only your thin neck, shoulders and bust, but will make your whole figure full and plump. Over testaments and bottles of pills, the reliable builders known. They are derived from eggs and form the principal ingredients in egg-o-lene compound tablets. You can buy the tablets from your druggist at a dollar per box—a complete two weeks' treatment. In ordinary cases thin person gains from ten to twenty-five pounds in thirty days.

W. J. C.: Especially at this season of the year you should be feeling energetic and have good appetite. Even though you do not feel really sick, you should take a good tonic to rid your blood of its impurities, and give you health and strength generally. Get an ounce of aureoline from your druggist and dissolve it with half a cup of sugar in a quart of water, then add enough water to make a full quart. This is a splendid remedy for that run-down, tired, indifferent feeling you get after a tedious day's work. Take a tablespoonful before each meal and in a short time you will restore your appetite and free your skin from those pimples and liver blotches which now annoy you.

STOCK IS SEIZED

Evasion of Custom Duties Alleged

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The entire stock of Joseph Brooke & Co., an English woolen firm, which has maintained a branch house in New York city for a quarter of a century, was seized by the government last night in an action to recover $200,000 damages, in consequence of fraud and other wrongful acts.

Alleged evasion of customs duties, disclosed by a former employee of the firm, is the basis for the action. With the seizure of the goods, it became known that the government recently instituted suit against the firm, but being unable to serve the summons in the action, because the Brookes are at present in Huddersfield, England, United States District Attorney Wise obtained a writ of attachment yesterday. The stock is valued at almost the amount of the damages claimed by the government.

Peter Redding, until recently a clerk in the firm's employ, gave the information on which the government acted. Special agents, according to Mr. Wise, verified his charges that the company had for years cheated the government by undervaluation of goods and false invoices.

Nicholas C. Brooks, a special agent who worked on the case, submitted an affidavit to Judge Havelin of the United States district court yesterday, who witnessed the attachment.

NATIONAL BASEBALL COMMISSION

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—When the board of arbitration of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues started last night to re-classify certain leagues on the basis of the 1910 census they hit a snag, the first thing they didn't have the official figures on some of the cities involved.

Telegrams were flashed to Washington for the information and the totals in the several leagues will be available.

George W. Hecker, owner of the Trenton, N. J., club, announced that he had purchased Pitcher Dreamers from Louisville and that he had disposed of Third Baseman Zennie Clayton to the Houston, Tex., club.

San Antonio, Tex., has secured next year's meeting of the National association. The association has wanted to hold its 1915 meeting at San Francisco during the exposition. This was tentatively accepted.

While the status of both the Three A and the Western league is affected by the 1910 census, it is believed that the old league agreement, which the latter had with the association, will protect its interests against a reduction in classification. There is no disposition to question the authenticity of this agreement, although it was a verbal one.

GOV. ELECT FOSS

Mentioned As Presidential Possibility

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Four men—John A. Dix of New York, Gov. Harmon of Ohio, Gov.-elect Wilson of New Jersey and Gov.-elect Eugene A. Foss of Massachusetts are named by Ollo James, who is expected to be the next senator from Kentucky, as "available presidential timber."

Congressman James, himself a national figure, is in New York visiting ex-Congressman Joseph L. Rhinock of the 16th Kentucky district. Congressman Rhinock has retired from Kentucky politics and is now a resident of New York city. Before leaving Kentucky, however, he saw to it that his private secretary, Arthur Rouse, was elected his successor to congress.

"The recent election," said Congressman James yesterday, "has developed a number of great men in the democratic party. Dix, Harmon, Wilson and Foss particularly stand out as national figures and presidential timber for the party in 1912."

"After the defeats of 1896 and 1900 everybody said the democratic party was deteriorating; that we had very few big men left in the party. People seemed to think that the republicans had a monopoly on brains and ability for statesmanship. The trouble was that we had no opportunity to develop and show the people what character of men we really had in the democratic ranks."

"This year, however, the democratic party has produced a great crop of high class statesmen. There are four governors-elect and any number of congressmen who are really big men. Give us just one more victory and the democratic party will have a monopoly on great men."

Ollo James is one of the most picturesque figures in American politics today. He stated his career as a page in the Kentucky house of representatives, and was famed as a boy orator. He has served three terms in congress, and is now slated to succeed T. C. Pender as U. S. senator from the Blue Grass state.

WOMAN IS GUILTY

Mrs. Frank Averill Was Convicted of Manslaughter

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Nov. 17.—Mrs. Averill, of Oct. 20. Shortly after 9 o'clock that night Averill crawled to the front door of the house of a neighbor, Frank P. Wells, bleeding from a gunshot wound. One of his first statements was that his wife shot him. He was removed to a hospital, where he died the following day. Mrs. Averill was arrested shortly after.

Mrs. Wells testified at the trial that shortly after the shooting Mrs. Averill said that the shooting occurred in the back piazza of her house. Mrs. Averill, however, denied that statement, saying that the shooting occurred in her home.

While on the stand, Mrs. Averill said that on the night of Oct. 20 she told her husband that on the night previous she had heard someone on the back piazza of their home while he was away, and that she had been terribly frightened. She stated that he replied that there was a shotgun in the house, and that she could protect herself with that when alone if anyone should attempt to break into the house. She said that he took the shotgun out of a closet and showed her how to use it. While she was holding the weapon in her hands her husband, she said, disappeared into an adjoining bedroom. She said that she was frightened, alone, and asked Averill to open the door. This he did not do, she said, and holding the gun by the barrels rapped the muzzle on the door. The gun went off, and she said she heard her husband's body fall on the floor.

She said that she broke open the door and that when she saw him he was wounded and became hysterical. He wanted to have her call a doctor, but she said that she was so dazed she didn't know what she was doing, and that he crawled across the road to the Wells' home.

Mrs. Averill's testimony on the stand and materially from her statements on the night of the shooting.

Then she is said to have stated that the shooting occurred in a field nearby the house. It was stated at the trial that Mrs. Averill placed the exploded cartridge in the kitchen stove, and that she tried to destroy all evidence of the shooting, but this she emphatically denied.

Mrs. Averill stated while testifying that she held the shotgun by the barrel, but Capt. J. M. Bell of Swanton, a witness for the state, who had experimented with a gun of the same make, declared that in his opinion such a gun could not be discharged unless the person had his finger on the trigger.

Mrs. Averill first became acquainted with Mr. Averill in Cambridge, Mass. They were later married in Worcester, Mass. The couple lived here for several years. Averill was a traveling man.

Couple Were Killed By Natural Gas

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Nov. 17.—Clasped in each other's arms, the bodies of James Gray, 30 years old, and Mrs. Jack Liewellyn, 41 years old, were found in a lodging house here yesterday. Asphyxiation was the cause of death, the room being filled with natural gas from a small stove. The door was locked and both windows closed.

Gray was the superintendent of a mine in Klondyke, O., and Mrs. Liewellyn was the wife of one of his employees. The husband later identified the body. Gray was also married and leaves a widow and seven children.

BIG CAMPAIGN EXPENSES

It is rather a regrettable commentary upon the method of conducting elections that it is necessary to expend large sums of money in order to secure election to public office. The reported returns of election expenses show that Governor-elect Foss spent $37,000 in his campaign, and Governor Draper $17,000. The expenses of Mr. Foss seem to be entirely abnormal, and yet we do not believe he would authorize the expenditure of a single dollar unlawfully. The money was given to the democratic state committee and other committees engaged in conducting rallies and getting out the vote.

It is easy to see that in such a way a large amount might be easily expended throughout the state. But it should not be necessary for a candidate for governor to spend any large sum in order to secure election. The fact that a large amount is spent by one candidate for office is a barrier to the selection of a man who has no money to spend. Thus it can be easily seen that the expenditure of large sums in political campaigns may operate in two different ways. It may cause the voters to favor a man on account of his money, and it may bar a poor man from office.

Mr. Foss made a very vigorous and active campaign throughout the state. The time at his disposal was short and for that reason he had to incur extraordinary expenses that would not otherwise be necessary. Besides, the political committees that were given authority throughout the state to incur expenses didn't hesitate to go ahead, knowing that Mr. Foss would foot the bills.

We haven't the slightest doubt that Mr. Foss himself is as astonished at the size of the bills as much as anybody. Another reason for the large expenditure is, that the democratic party was in a disorganized condition, and it required a good deal of hard work to get the rank and file organized for effective work. We surmise that quite as much was spent to help Draper as for the election of Foss. The difference was, however, that in the one case the bills were footed by Foss and in the other many of them were paid by the friends of the candidate.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENTARY CRISIS

Hon. John Redmond, the leader of the Irish party in parliament, is being criticized by the Tory press of England as coming home to make another assault upon the British constitution with the aid of American dollars. The press of London in particular has gotten up a groundless scare on this score by saying that Mr. Redmond comes home with $200,000. This statement is absurd.

It is true that at the Buffalo convention the sum of $150,000 was pledged for the next two years, but the only money Mr. Redmond will get now is the amounts actually raised in cities such as Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Buffalo and one or two others. The entire amount will probably not exceed $50,000 if it would reach that sum, so that the press of London is overstating the amount of Mr. Redmond's financial strength. This statement is sent out for the purpose of discrediting the Irish leader and causing his constituents to believe that he has unlimited money at his command.

The money which Mr. Redmond receives from this country is expended for three purposes. First—To conduct the organization of the United Irish League, that is, to organize and pay for public meetings, and to pay the expenses of sending literature throughout the country and even abroad. The second source of expense is the payment of the Irish members of parliament who are held in London and required to give all their time to the service of the party and the cause. Some members do not need any assistance, but pay their own expenses while giving their time and labor to the struggle. Others, and they are in the majority, cannot support themselves and remain continually in London working for the parliamentary party under Mr. Redmond.

So long as the funds are sufficient to meet the expenditure the latter are paid $1500 a year, and that does not afford them any luxuries for the cost of living is high in London, and they have a variety of incidental expenses that very quickly eat up their annual allowance. The cost of conducting elections constitutes the third drain upon the resources of the party.

In England all election expenses, even to the printing of the ballots, are paid by the candidates. Where the Irish party has charge of over eighty seats, many of them hotly contested, the expense of a general election is never under $50,000. Were it not for the assistance from this country Mr. Redmond would not have been able to gather about him the bright galaxy of able men that he has in parliament, all pledged to sit and act and vote together as one body. It is by acting as a unit on every question that comes up that they make themselves a dominating force in parliament.

At the present time the Irish party holds the balance of power in the house of commons and thus Mr. Redmond as leader and head of the party holds a commanding position that enables him to dictate terms to the British ministry.

It seems that Premier Asquith has consulted the king in regard to creating a sufficient number of liberal peers to form a majority in the upper house and thus ensure the passage of a measure reforming that body, so as to take away its veto power on measures passed by the lower house. The king hesitates at this serious step and has called a meeting of the privy council, the leaders of both parties, to advise him as to the proper course of action. What the king dislikes is the necessity of taking sides between the two houses and against that to which he himself belongs, the titled aristocracy. But if Premier Asquith appeals to the country he will receive a decisive verdict against the house of lords. If the crisis could be met by the formation of a new cabinet and the curtailment of the power of the peers, the country would be saved the turmoil and expense of a general election.

SEEN AND HEARD

A young lady with a bobble skirt and other giddy attire, accompanied by a Danvers car, the other afternoon, amid the glances of the Town House square, and headed for the depot with a gait that would do justice to a race horse. While alighting from the car she had to jump, and, wearing French heels upon her dainty shoes, landed on terra firma with a jar that shook her all over. Some of the boys followed her as far as the station and one of them says that the brakeman had to assist her on the train, as it was impossible for her to move her pedal extremities, the skirt bound her so tightly about the lower section. ONE GLIMPSE OF HEAVEN—
Love in a cottage or palace,
Love on a throne, or the street,
Is life's greatest comfort and solace,
And makes mere existence seem sweet,
And we know, 'midst our tears and our laughter—
No matter how worthy or vile—
It is either here or hereafter,
That makes our existence worth while.

Without love, how paltry are riches,
Without it, how cruel is pride,
Without it, men's names laurels wither,
With no love, joy ever has died.
It brightens the dreariest hour,
It lightens the heaviest load,
It is life's choicest, costliest jewel,
Free to each who travels her road.

It comes to make life worth the living,
And gives us the strength to endure
The struggle, forever forgiving,
Injustice, because we are sure
Of a heaven awaiting hereafter
From the moment our hearts shall give birth
To love, 'midst our tears and our laughter,
It's our one glimpse of Heaven, on earth.

The young son of a prominent railway man was playing with the drawing room chairs one afternoon when his father entered, accompanied by a gentleman whom the child had never particularly fancied.

As the visitor took a chair, the boy remonstrated. "I beg your pardon, sir, but this is a train of cars." "Very well, my son," was the answer: "I'll be a passenger." But the youngster didn't want the grown-up for a passenger, so he said: "Where do you wish to get off?" "Cincinnati," said the boy. "This is Cincinnati." (Lippincott's.)

Hubby (with irritation)—"Why is it that you women insist upon having the last word?"
Wife (calmly)—"We don't. The only reason we set it is because we always have a open argument left when you stupid men all run out."

WHY PEOPLE LOSE THEIR HAIR

The most common cause of loss of hair, dandruff and itching scalp is neglect. Leading authorities like Dr. J. C. Byles and Dr. Woods Hutchinson, of New York, and Professor Lassar, of Germany, recommend frequent washing. The best thing for the purpose is a shampoo made of fine Soap, Glycerin, White of Eggs, Coconut Oil and Salicylic Acid. Birt's Head Wash contains these ingredients. It cleans the hair, opens up the pores of the scalp, and is invigorating to the hair roots. It does more to prevent the loss of hair than all so-called "tonics" put together. Tubes 25c, jars 50c.

Greek Woman Dies Upon Arrival in New York

On the threshold of the Land of Promise, her husband within, awaiting with outstretched arms to welcome her to a comfortable home in a strange but hospitable country, Mrs. Helen Coronios, wife of George Coronios, a barber in the local Greek colony, succumbed to an attack of pneumonia at the immigration station in New York a few days ago.

To make the case more distressing her two little children, whom she brought with her, are down with diphtheria in a New York hospital.

Mrs. Coronios was taken from the ship which had brought her to this country to the hospital at the immigration station, where she died last Thursday. The children were left at the immigration station to await the arrival of their father and while they were taken down with diphtheria and were removed to a contagious disease hospital.

George Coronios arrived in New York too late to see his wife alive. He has been a resident of Lowell for several years and is known as a popular member of the Greek colony. As soon as he had accumulated a sufficient amount of money to establish a comfortable home for his family he sent for them to come. Mrs. Coronios and her children set forth with all haste and the mother was taken ill while the ship was nearing its destination.

The body of Mrs. Coronios will be brought to this city for burial. Undertakers C. H. Molloy & Sons having charge of the arrangements. The husband and father, who did not know of the illness of his wife until his arrival in New York, was overcome by the shock of the news. He will bring his two children here when they have recovered.

MINISTER'S WIFE

HAS HIM ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF ASSAULT

WORCESTER, Nov. 17.—With his collar dyed scarlet by blood flowing from a cut in the side of his head, and attempting to stop the flow by means of a large towel, Rev. William H. Davenport, until recently pastor of Zion A. M. E. church, called at police headquarters yesterday with his wife to have the officials put an end to his family troubles. The sexton ended with his being placed under arrest and booked on a charge of assault and battery on Mrs. Davenport.

The couple arrived at headquarters together shortly before 4 o'clock and both tried to talk at once, the minister declaring that his condition was due to an assault on him by his wife. He claimed she hit him with a clip on the left side of the head with something that opened the scalp. Mrs. Davenport acknowledged she did it, but said she had been driven to it by years of abuse and she had got to the end of her patience. She declared she had been abused by her husband almost every day for several years and she did not intend to stand it any longer.

In view of their position, the police officials advised them to go home and keep the peace unless they wanted to suffer from the publicity that would necessarily follow an arrest. Rev. Mr. Davenport was willing, but Mrs. Davenport was not.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT MAN ARRESTED CHANGE IN VENUE

May be Dissolved November 28,
According to Report

LONDON, Nov. 17.—An apparently inspired statement issued today fixes Nov. 28 as the date for the dissolution of parliament. The government, it is asserted, designs to pass the budget before appealing to the country, the debate on the financial measure proceeding in the house of commons while the lords are discussing the veto bill.
That the "American dollar" and the "Irish dictator" will figure largely in the unionist campaign was indicated by the excitement at the annual conference of conservative associations at Nottingham this morning when Henry Chaplin, unionist member of parliament from Wimbledon and former president of the local government board, in an opening speech, declared the government, which he said was handing over the rule of the British people to the enemies of England, who, with foreign gold, aspire to dictate our destinies.

OBSERVATORY COMPLETED
ROME, Nov. 17.—A ceremony in celebration of the completion of the Vatican observatory under the direction of Father Hagen, the Jesuit astronomer, was held in the papal apartment today. It had been planned to have the exercises at the observatory, but although the pontiff is quite well the weather is unfavorable and His Holiness feared to venture out.
A speech was made by Cardinal Maffei, president of the observatory, to which the pope replied, highly commending the work of Father Hagen.

TO ENTERTAIN AMERICANS
LONDON, Nov. 17.—The lord mayor and corporation will entertain a large number of American officers and men at luncheon in Guild hall during the stay of the American fleet in the Thames. The corporation today voted an expenditure of $10,000 for this purpose. The date of the occasion has not yet been determined.
A large body of men from the Mississippi came into town today and drove about in carriages and taxis.

Charged With Having Killed Women

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 17.—Confessing, according to the police, that he had committed the crime, a foreigner who is charged with having shot and killed Mrs. Charles Richards and fatally injured her daughter, Mrs. Peter Pauls, after having been caught stealing at their home near here last night, was arrested in Reading today and brought to the Schuylkill county jail. The prisoner, who is known as Frank Mitchell, was employed on the Pauls farm.

MANY SIGNATURES
LONDON, Nov. 17.—Solicitor Newton, has secured several thousand signatures to a petition for a reprieve for his client, Dr. Hawley Crippen, sentenced to die on Wednesday next, for the murder of his wife, the actress, Belle Elmore. It is probable that the petition will be presented to Home
Secretary Churchill today.

FEDERATION OF LABOR
ST. LOUIS, Nov. 17.—British fraternal delegates Ben Turner and William Brace, a member of parliament, addressed the American Federation of Labor convention this morning. Rev.
Charles Stehle of New York, head of the department of church and labor in the Presbyterian church, also spoke.
The fight for recognition of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers factions was scheduled to be resumed today.
A mass meeting for the women delegates was held in a separate hall. Tonight the annual banquet will be given to the delegates and visitors.

Petition Presented to Supreme Court

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—The supreme court was asked today to order a change in venue in the trial of former City Treasurer Crocker, Charles Leach, and John J. Conroy, under indictment for alleged bribery of a jury that broke the will of Crocker's father four years ago. A year after the jury broke the will one member was sent to the house of correction for receiving a bribe and later another man pleaded guilty to the charge of bribing the jury.
Crocker and his two brothers benefited through the breaking of the will,
which left the greater part of the property to their stepmother.
The superior court refused to order a change of venue and Mr. Crocker's lawyer today petitioned for a writ of mandamus to compel the lower court to exercise its authority, which he said was inherited from the common law and the king's bench of England.

NEW CUNARD STEAMSHIP
LONDON, Nov. 17.—The specifications issued today for the new Cunard line steamship call for a vessel 24 feet longer than the White Star liner Olympic, at present the biggest vessel in the world, but of slightly smaller displacement.
The new Cunarder will be 885 feet long with a total displacement of 50, 000 tons. A speed of 23 knots an hour is expected of the vessel, which will be propelled by turbines and the use of oil for fuel will be possible if such use is deemed advisable.

PROBABLY FATALITY SHOT
NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—A worker by day and burglar by night, Michael Herlihy, a husky youth of 18, was caught red-handed with his "lookout" early today looting a butcher shop on Avenue A. The two robbers fled down the avenue and Patrolman Mara dropped Herlihy with a shot, which pierced his back. Believe physicians say Herlihy will die.

BOTH DIED SUDDENLY
CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Two of the best-known commission men at the Union stockyards, died unexpectedly of heart trouble at their Chicago residences last night. They were Thomas Kelly and W. W. Shearer.
Mr. Kelly, who is said by friends to have amassed a fortune of $3,000,000, was president of the National Livestock Commission Co., with branches in St. Louis, Kansas City and Fort Worth. He was largely interested in Texas and Oklahoma lands and was one of the largest breeders of cattle in the country. He was 52 years old.
Mr. Shearer, who was a close friend of Mr. Kelly, had been connected with the Chicago stock yards for nearly forty years.

TO ENTERTAIN AMERICANS
CHERBOURG, Nov. 17.—The streets were animated today by the presence of American bluejackets, who (frater-nized with the French seamen. The city is preparing a festival at the municipal theatre for the entertainment of the visitors.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE
BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 17.—The operation of woman suffrage and its local effect was a subject which received pretty close attention at the closing sessions of the combined national conference and annual meeting of the National Municipal League today. Miss Mary Winsor of Haverford, Pa., president of the Pennsylvania Limited Suffrage League, presented a digest of data recently collected with reference to the operation of woman suffrage in Colorado. Much of the information was obtained through letters obtained through many persons of prominence in civic affairs.

PLAN TO HAVE ONE IN NATION-AL CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Two million dollars as the share to be raised by the George Washington Memorial association and $250,000 to be raised by Washingtonians is the basis upon which Granville Hunt, chairman of the conventions committee of the Washington chamber of commerce, is working to obtain a memorial hall for the national capital.
Mr. Hunt and Mrs. Henry Dinnock, sister of the late W. C. Whitney of New York and president of the George Washington association, have been in conference here and both are working earnestly in an effort to get a hall erected in the city with adequate facilities for accommodating the largest convention. Mr.
Hunt said today that he was confident of success and that the business men here already have pledged $14,000. Mrs.
Dinnock has suggested stimulating interest in the project by including in the proposed building plans for separate rooms for every state in the union appropriating money in furtherance of the project.

ELECTION JUDGE WANTS TO KNOW HOW TO STOP THEM

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 17.—B. L. Barry, election judge at Dayton, Ore., has written to Attorney General Crawford stating that women in his village are in the habit of voting and he wants to know what can be done to keep the gentler sex away from the voting booths, where the men are. How long the women of the little town have been casting votes Mr. Barry fails to say.
The attorney general wrote advising Barry that it is the duty of Oregon election judges to eject women voters, except at school elections. Mr. Barry is rather uncomfortable, being, as he says, between the devil and the deep blue sea.

NEW BILLIARD RECORD

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Calvin Demarest, the young local billiard player, in practice last night hung up a new record for the 13.3 style of play.
He made 322, breaking the best previous mark either in practice or in competition of 307, made by Willie Hoppe in 1908 at the All-Star tournament in Orchestra hall.

CAPT. JAMES DEAD

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 17.—Captain Martin S. James, a well known Civil war veteran and for the past ten years head of the license bureau of this city, died at the Rhode Island hospital early today of traumatic poisoning. He was 71 years old. At the close of the war Captain James was assigned by the government to dismantle all the cannon around Richmond.
He was also commissioned to do some special work for the government in the Spanish war. He is survived by a son and a daughter.

TO SIGN CONTRACTS

CINCINNATI, Nov. 17.—Pitcher
Moren is in Cincinnati in company with Hans Lobert of the Philadelphia team and will call upon President Hermann and sign his contract to play with Cincinnati next year. He says Eddie Grant ought to be in Cincinnati today and that he will sign without question. Each of them will receive $100 in addition to the salary they had last year. Moren says his only reason for holding off was to let the controversy between Hermann and Fogel be settled.

The Cooks who have used the Single Damper of the

Crawford Ranges

will never go back to the troublesome two-damper range

The cost of the food spoiled by mistakes in regulating the ordinary two-damper ranges amounts to a large sum.

The Single Damper of the Crawford affords absolute fire and oven control by one motion—slide the knob to "kindle," "bake" or "check," the range does the rest.

The Oven of the Crawford has cup-joint heat flues which heat everywhere alike and make it the quickest and surest of bakers.

The Two Hods (patented) in the base—one for ashes instead of the old clumsy ash pan—one for coal, is a great trouble-saving feature.

Gas Ovens and Broilers above or at end of range, if desired.

A Badge of Honesty

Is printed on the outer wrapper of every bottle of

and it is the only medicine for woman's peculiar ailments, sold by druggists, the makers of which feel fully warranted in thus taking the afflicted into their full confidence

The more known about the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the more confidently will invalid women rely upon it to cure their peculiar weaknesses and derangements. There's no secrecy about its make-up—no deceptive inducements held out to the afflicted. It's simply a good, honest, square-deal medicine with no alcohol, or injurious, habit-forming drugs in its composition. Made wholly from roots. It can do no harm in any condition of woman's organism.

Devised and put up by a physician of vast experience in the treatment of woman's maladies. Its ingredients have the indorsement of leading physicians in all schools of practice.

The "Favorite Prescription" is known everywhere as the standard remedy for diseases of women and has been so regarded for the past 40 years and more. Accept no secret nostrum in place of "Favorite Prescription"—a medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, with a record of 40 years of cures behind it.

It's foolish and often dangerous to experiment with new or but slightly tested medicines—sometimes urged upon the afflicted as "just as good" or better than "Favorite Prescription." The dishonest dealer sometimes insists that he knows what the proffered substitute is made of, but you don't and it is decidedly for your interest that you should know what you are taking into your stomach and system expecting it to act as a curative. To him its only a difference of profit. Therefore, insist on having Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

HAS NERVOUS TROUBLE

Pace Too Speedy for Champion Jack Johnson

Champion Will Quit Stage This Week and Take a Much Need- ed Rest—Had Attack of Ner- vous Trouble in Lawrence— Champion Talks With The Sun's Sporting Writer

"Lil Artha's nerves has gone back on him and he's givin' back to Chelcy to his dear ol' mammy."

John Arthur Johnson, world's champion pugilist, who put Jeffries out of commission at Reno and subsequently got Barney Oldfield in bad with the autoists, standing 225 pounds in his blue silk undershirt, last evening, informed the sporting writer of The Sun that the constant excitement that has attended his career since that glorious Fourth of July when he delivered the wallop heard round the world, has been too much for him and he is forced to quit and retire to the simple life for a much needed rest.

The champ came to Lowell in a big touring car to appear at the Opera House last evening in connection with a vaudeville show which he heads and

as soon as the news of his arrival in town spread about, business began to boom at the Richardson hotel, where he was registered.

Sports, near-sports and pikers lined the office and the cafe discussing all the fights that have occurred since David met Goliath at catch weights and with a brick in the old days before Marquis of Queensbury had come on earth with a set of inviolable ring rules. Johnson is a distant relative of "Bill" Hazard, the popular night clerk at the Richardson and an old friend of John Dawson, and these two were kept busy giving the sports tips on Johnson's life and record. Mr. Dawson was ably assisted in handling out the news by an ancient copy of the Police News containing a sketch of Johnson, which he had carefully concealed about his person.

Some joker started a groundless report to the effect that Fatsy Lynch, the Richardson hotel barber, had politely but firmly declined to wield a razor over the features of the champ and for half an hour Fatsy was the cynosure of all eyes while the small boys looked with open-mouthed wonderment at the diminutive tonsorialist who had dared to say "nay" to the champion.

Upon arriving at the hotel Johnson went directly to his suite of rooms where he remained until 9 o'clock, when he went to the Opera House, running the gauntlet of a great crowd some of whom remained about the hotel for hours in the hope of getting a glimpse of him. At one time there were over 1500 men and boys in and about the hotel while Officer Clark was kept busy keeping the sidewalk clear. Similar conditions prevailed in Central street near the Opera House, where a great crowd assembled before and after the show, greeting the champion with cheers.

Johnson gave the sporting editor of The Sun a most cordial greeting as he entered the room and he made a most favorable impression upon his guest. Of all the champions from Sullivan down, barring perhaps Corbett, Johnson shows most refinement of manner and is the best talker. He writer, Johnson said: "I went bad at Lawrence Saturday night and have been right since and thus I am going to cancel my engagement with the end of the week and return to Chicago to see my mother and fix up some business matters and then I will go to the coast. I will get out on a ranch or farm and have a good rest. After that, when I fully recover, I shall go across the pond and tour Europe, but there'll be nothing doing until I feel right. Physically, I feel well and strong, but it's my nerves. Between the fight, automobile, vaudeville and law suits I haven't had a quiet moment for over six months, and I tell you it gets the strongest man, I don't care who he is. On Saturday night while in my rooms at the Franklin house after the show, my head suddenly went bad. I couldn't remember where I was or what I was doing. Going over the road so much and carrying such an amount of jewelry with me, I always have a revolver in my possession and I had just presided in my mind enough to call to my wife to take the revolver and hide it. I was really afraid of myself and feared that I might do something desperate. I then went to a faucet and let the cold water run on my head, which relieved me slightly, while my wife summoned a physician, a Dr. Cutler, I believe. Dr. Cutler diagnosed my case as nervous prostration, and stated that I would have to quit the stage and take a rest. I felt better Sunday and Monday in Haverhill I simply sparred with my partner, Walter Monahan, and cut out the speech making. Monday night, however, I felt bad again and was attended by a doctor in Haverhill. In Salem yesterday I felt none too good and so I decided after finishing the week, to return to Chicago. We play Portland tomorrow and finish the week in Bangor. It was my intention to open in New Bedford next week and we were to play continuously to Jan. 1. I dislike to cancel my contract, not alone for the financial part of it, but because I have been advertised ahead and don't like to disappoint the public. I have been very successful and have made a lot of money. What a fool I'd be to lose my health, before I had had a chance to enjoy any of it. They say John D. Rockefeller would give a million dollars if he could enjoy a square meal. If John D. Rockefeller can't buy good health, you can bet Jack Johnson never can, so I'm going to hold mine while I have it. My mother has heard so many stories about me since I became the champion that she is worrying greatly about me. She is 67 years old. As soon as this happened I wrote her not to worry if she read in the papers that I was sick and I will leave Bangor on Sunday and go direct to her home in Chicago. I used to think it was great to travel from place to place but I've had enough of it. If I could go out in your city or any other and have a quiet walk with my wife and a look in the shop windows, everything would be fine, but I can't move but what there's a mob after me and while they are very annoying you can't get mad at them and you can't shake them."

The champion had little to say about his fight with Jeffries, remarking: "That's an old story now, and you read about it at the time. I will say one thing, however, that we had more fun in Reno in nine days than I've ever had in any nine days in my life. It's certainly one fine little town." While talking about fighting Johnson said: "By the way, this is the home of George and Jimmie Gardner, two fine boys. George Gardner and I are old friends and good ones and he is very well thought of in Chicago. I was much disappointed over his defeat by Fitz, as I surely thought George would turn the trick. You have another great boy and a perfect gentleman hero in Joe Thomas. Joe is one of the biggest ring favorites in the west." Asked about his sparring partner, Johnson said: "Walter Monahan is a youngster who hails from Fresno. When he first came to the training quarters he was a thorough greenhorn with the gloves, but he showed promise and he is coming along finely. I think he is a comer."

An enjoyable whist party and vaudeville entertainment was held in St. Joseph's college hall last night under the auspices of the Gardo Frontenac. The affair was well patronized and it proved to be a success.

The vaudeville entertainment included many features. Miss Blanche Levesque rendered vocal selections and gave piano solos, while Mr. George

Dr. J. H. SCHENCK & SON, Phila., Pa.

Labranche sang several comic songs. Fred Beasoleil did some clever fancy dancing, and Pratte and Bisallan, acrobats, performed with great dexterity. The climax in this attractive program was given by the Gardo Frontenac whist. The committee in charge was composed of Joseph Ellis, president; the direction of Capt. Albert Bergeron, Fred Rocheville, Alfred Arpin and formed a "human pyramid" upon the stage, the exhibition proving quite a thriller.

Dr. A. G. Payette presided over the details of the program. The members of the guard, in full uniform, acted as ushers and later as scorers at the whist. The committee in charge was composed of Joseph Ellis, president; the direction of Capt. Albert Bergeron, Fred Rocheville, Alfred Arpin and formed a "human pyramid" upon the stage, the exhibition proving quite a thriller.

MOON'S ECLIPSE

Witnessed by Thousands of Persons

Thousands of persons who ordinarily pay no attention to astronomical phenomena studied the heavens last night with glass or the unaided eye to observe the total eclipse of the moon, which was predicted by astronomers.

many months ago. The bright face of Luna was obscured by the umbral shadow which, in its journey around the sun, intercepted the sun's rays and the sun's rays were shut off and the brightest orb of night was a mere disk of darkness for three hours.

The first indentation of the bright new-moon took place at 5.44 at a point on the lower half of the lunar disk. The shadow swept gradually across the moon until at 6.56 it completely covered it, and the eclipse was total until 7.47.

It was an impressive spectacle to those unfamiliar with the wonders of the sidereal heavens, for the glowing circle of silver paled and a dull red-brown hue succeeded, which in turn, gave way to positive darkness. The last indentation of the disk disappeared at 8.58, and soon after the moon shone as brightly as if it had never been eclipsed.

The meteorological conditions were excellent for observation, as the sky was cloudless and there was little wind stirring. The moon was in plain sight above the horizon when the eclipse began and climbed higher and higher, so that it was nearly half way to the zenith when it was in totality.

AMERICAN SAILORS

PARIS, Nov. 17.—Groups of American bluejackets visiting Paris are everywhere objects of interest and are cordially welcomed. One hundred men from the battleship Georgia arrived from Brest this morning. As they passed out of the railroad station they were repeatedly photographed by representatives of the Paris papers.

Two hundred jacksies are coming in from Cherbourg this afternoon. The system of giving the men shoreleave in batches of 100 and 200 will be continued throughout the visit. Each group will remain in Paris five days. American Ambassador Bacon and Lieutenant Commander Chapin, American naval attaché, are arranging with an agency for excursions of the men to points of interest, including drives to Versailles and Fontainebleau. Mr. Bacon will give a dinner to the officers of the fleet.

SAM WALTER FOSS CLUB

The S. W. F. C. club held its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mender, No. 327 Beacon street. The president, Mrs. French, presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Mender and Mrs. Baker were the hostesses of the afternoon. Mrs. Baker took charge of the literary program. The first number was a piano solo by Miss Hardy, after which Mrs. Baker in a few well chosen words introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Rev. Allan Ferrin of the High street church. Rev. Mr. Kennigott was to have spoken, but having been called away Mr. Ferrin kindly consented to speak in his stead. The subject chosen by the speaker was "Edward Markham, the poppy poet and prophet of the poor." His address was well worth listening to and his rendering of some of the poet's best writings, especially "The Man With the Hoe" and one about Abraham Lincoln was interesting and inspiring. At the conclusion of the address Miss Lena Bowen sang a solo. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses. Mrs. Elita French and Mrs. Foss presided, assisted by Mrs. Gilmore, Mrs. McDonald, Miss Charlotte Mender, Mrs. Cheney, Mrs. Pickering, Mrs. E. M. Wheeler and Mrs. Adams. The club entertained as guests the Lucy Larcum club of Tewksbury. The next meeting will be held December 7 at the home of Mrs. Pratt, No. 260 Walker street.
